WHO: JIM WEBSTER

LIVES IN: Village of Stongili on the island of Corfu in Greece

I've Been Moved History: Joined IBM in Ottawa in 1963, then held several DP Marketing jobs in Winnipeg and Toronto. Foreign postings with Industry Marketing in Amsterdam, Holland and Information Systems at the South East Asia Region HQ in Hong Kong. Then it was back to Toronto-based Systems Integration and finally within the IBM Consulting Group as a Partner in Application Development Consulting. He retired in 1993.

My fondest recollection with IBM was... working with smart, professional, helpful people in Canada, Europe and Asia.

WHO: LARRY ANDERSON

LIVES IN: City of Hervey Bay, Queensland, Australia

I've Been Moved History: Larry started in Edmonton as an Office Products (OP) Customer Engineer in 1961 and worked in that division while it existed. He was a Western Region OP Technical Specialist and in 1982 moved to Vancouver to work in the General Business Group. He retired in July 2000.

My fondest recollection with IBM was... the early days, when working for IBM was like being part of a large international family.
