THARP FAMILY

OF DELAWARE

By WILLIAM B. THARP
FARMINGTON, DEL.

1735 - 1941

Don't think this is right. I believe John is the son of Wm Tharp and Jane Oxtone (Austin) who were married in Talbot Co Md 8 Jan 1709.

Introduction

About 1735 John Tharp, according to family tradition, came to this country from England, probably Sussex County,* and settled near what is now Frankford, Sussex County, Delaware. He married Elizabeth (old paper crumbled here). As he seems to have had some association with a Manohah Gum, his wife may have been of that family.

He is said to have lived and died in Sussex County but there is record in Dover that a John Tharp bought land in Kent County in 1761, a few years before John's son, William, began the purchases which later made him an extensive land owner in Mispillion Hundred, Kent County. The farm home of the writer of this sketch, a great, great grandson of this first William, is a part of the land acquired by him, and many of his descendants are Mispillion Hundred land owners today.

Besides William Tharp, three other Tharps are mentioned as buying land in Kent County about the same time, Abner in 1759, Thomas in 1771, and Isaac who served in the Revolutionary War, bought land in 1785. These were probably related to William who named a son Thomas, apparently for the above named Thomas, but the connection is not traced.

Judge W. W. Harrington found mention of a William Tharp in the Georgetown (Sussex County) records of the settlement of a Ponder estate about the time of our first William, but the identity, while possible, is very doubtful considering William's age (23) at the time of his marriage to Ruth Clark in Kent County.

The writer has nothing to show that the first William Tharp was a slave owner, but his son, James, and some sons of the latter held slaves. To the best of the writer's knowledge all those living in Delaware were voluntarily freed before the time of the Civil War.

The following Item II of the Will of James Tharp, under date of September 5, 1829, speaks for itself.

"It is my will and desire and I hereby direct my negroes to be free;—the males as they shall severally arrive at the age of twenty-five years and the females as they shall severally arrive at the age of twenty-one years."

* Inquiry, a few years ago, showed that this name was known there then.

Early Relationship of Fleming and Tharp Families

While there is mention in the Archives at Dover, that William Thrap, son of John rendered pecuniary service to the government by purchase of its Treasury notes in the Revolutionary War, there is none that he rendered military service.

However, any descendants of James Tharp and his wife, Nicey (Eunice) Fleming can show clear title to membership in D. A. R. or S. A. R. as follows:

Nicey Fleming, daughter of Benaiah Fleming, was born April 10, 1784, and died September 15, 1827. She married James Tharp, January 18, 1803.

Benaiah Fleming (above) a fifer in the Del. Revolutionary forces at the age of 17 was a son of William Fleming. He (Benaiah) was born February 10, 1762 and died October 12, 1845. On February 5, 1783, he married Elizabeth Turner, who was born December 11, 1865 and died July 7, 1813.

William Fleming, father of Benaiah, came to this country from Scotland in 1741 after a short stay in Ireland. He was born June 5, 1717, and died May 5, 1784. He immediately acquired land (William's Choice) built a brick house, which is still standing, and about 1744 married Jane (or Jean) Frame. He and two of his sons, Boaz and Benaiah served in the Revolutionary War. His term of service was 1777-1780. (Del. Archives).

Genealogy of the Tharp Family OF DELAWARE

The names of the children of each generation of each family are preceded by the names of their parents. Descent may easily be traced by finding the name of the parent of Tharp descent in the preceding generation and so on back to the beginning of this genealogy. The names of parents of Tharp ancestry are printed in bold face type.

FIRST GENERATION

0.1 John Tharp—no dates. 1711
Elizabeth, his wife—no dates.

- 12.12 Benjamin, Dec. 9, 1783—Oct. 31, 1824.

According to the wills of William Tharp and of his son, Jonathan, it seems that of the above named children, only Sarah, Esther, Ruth, James, Nancy, Jonathan and Benjamin lived to reach maturity. All mentioned as married except Benjamin. Descendants of Sarah and James are the only ones traced beyond the next generation. It is probable that some went west—possibly—to Michigan as did James Madison Tharp. (He returned later and died in Delaware).
