—"Keep it out of the paper," is the cry which we hear. To oblige often costs considerable. A newspaper is a peculiar article in the public's eye. The news collector is stormed at because he gets an item and is abused because he does not get it; another subscriber wants the news and wonders when he gets the paper why the item is not there, when it is in everyone's mouth.

Persons desiring to send money or other valuable contributions to the suffering miners of northern Michigan can do so free, and receive receipts for same by enquiring of HENRY ALLEN, Agent National Express Co.

—While assisting his father in putting some heavy oak timbers in the loft of the barn Monday, Bert Stuart was hit on the head by the accidental falling of one of them. He was unconscious for some time after receiving the blow and for a time it was expected that the accident would prove serious, but he is now rapidly improving. Had the end of the timber, which fell about 10 feet, struck him, undoubtedly death would have been the result. It was however a very close call.

The proper way to treat people who will leave their horses hitched for hours in the cold without exercise would be to see that they exchange places with the brute and be chained up to a post the same length of time that the submissive animal had taken the same punishment. That dose of medicine would not have to be applied the second time."

—A fair sized and very appreciative audience greeted Chas. W. D. Allen in his piano recital at the Presbyterian church last Friday evening. Mr. Allen is a talented young musician, and all the selections he gave were most excellently rendered. Our home talent did exceedingly well, especially Miss Hollar, whose whistling solo was fine. STRAWBERRIES IN WINTER.

A. M. Munger, who lives two miles west of the city, on the White Bridge road, brought two boxes of fine ripe strawberries to the Republican office yesterday, grown in the open air, and as finely colored and richly flavored as could be desired.

Mr. Munger is probably the most successful berry grower in the county on a small scale. He has 1500 plants and has had an abundance of berries every day since the 15th of last April. Besides what the family has consumed he has sold $75 worth of berries in this market.

Mr. Munger also raises a superior variety of dewberry, and now has about three acres of these vines which will be in bearing the coming season. Last season the profit of the vines in bearing was 32 cents for each vine. These vines are planted in rows 4x6, and there are 1750 to the acre. It will be seen from this that the profit per acre is enormous.

[The above clipping from the Fresno Republican pays a high compliment to a former Schoolcraft resident, Mr. A. M. Munger, as a first-class fruit grower.]
