Revision 1 Notes - Sept 12, 2002

Since July 28, 2002 until this, there had been almost no update as I was working to get the next revision quite well organized in a somewhat permanent chapter layout and get the direct descendants layed out in a logical order so they could be numbered sequentially. The result is that, today, there are a total of 594 members of the family recorded here. If the marriage of Sarah Coleman, born about 1650 in Ireland who married Francis Roundtree and lived in Nansemond County Virginia is any indication, then a birthplace or origin is now suggested for Robert Coleman of Nansemond County. Since they were contemporaries (born about 1650), they could have been brother and sister. Thus, if Sarah Coleman Roundtree is the brother of Robert Coleman of Nansemond County Virginia, then Robert Coleman likely came from, or was born in (at least), the country of Ireland. This in contrast to the legend recorded by Jennie I. Coleman of Fairfield County, South Carolina in the 1800s that the family originated from Wales.

Additions since the last release include:

1. More families from north Hamilton County into the outline in Chapter 15.
2. New chapters, 16-21, for each of the children of Charles Coleman of North Hamilton County, Tennessee.
3. New chapter, 22, on the inhabitants of Bibb and Greene County Alabama who are thought to be descended from Robert Coleman of Nansemond County Virginia. This group descends from a pair of sons of Charles Coleman and Mary Roundtree, who left North Carolina, arrived in Bibb County Alabama, planting son Wiley there, then arrived in Greene County Alabama, planting son John there. Charles and his wife Mary both died in 1824, a year after arriving there.
4. New chapters, 23-30, for each of the grandchildren of Charles Coleman, born to his son, Wash, (George Washington Coleman).
5. New chapters, 31-40, for each of the grandchildren of Charles Coleman, born to his son, Frank, (Benjamin Franklin Coleman).
6. Research notes of interest in the early chapters covering the earliest known descendants and collateral families with whom they married and migrated. These notes are pieces of related information found in searching Rootsweb email list archives and the State Archives Search Engine. Email lists for both surnames and county lists have been combed for information that ties families together by any bits of fact from deeds, wills, or family researcher's queries. Other resources include the family forums of GenForum, U.S. Census and Census indexes, and cemetery transcription projects posted to the Internet.

7. A number of appendices for background data tables, U.S. Census data of a given location, or a deed timeline for a given location. Truly, a lot of the research notes added in the early chapters should have been, and should one day become, appendices in this project.

Revision 2 Notes - Sept 15, 2002

1. Added links on each page back to the home page or "Site Map"
2. Revised App A concerning the appearance of Edgecombe County Colemans in the Halifax County U.S. Census of 1790 rather than Edgecombe County. Still needs verification.
3. Fixed the Table of Contents entry for the title of Chapter 3. Robert Coleman, III, not the second (II).

Revision 3 Notes - Sept 23, 2002

1. Indexed more of the Fair Bluff, Columbus County, NC descendants from Census and Cemetery records.

Revision 4 Notes - Sept 27, 2002

1. Indexed descendants of Chapter 31.
2. Added descendants from Chapter 31 into Chapter 15 outline of North Hamilton County, TN Colemans.
3. Total descendants of Robert Coleman of Nansemond County now indexed is 700 (2 through 701).
4. Chapters 32 through 40 need descendants indexed and Chapter 22 on Greene County Alabama descendants needs lots of analysis and indexing.

Revision 5 Notes - Sept 29, 2002

1. Indexed descendants of Chapter 32.
2. Corrected index numbers in Chapter 25 to match correct numbers in Chapter 15 outlining Colemans of North Hamilton County, TN.
3. Fixed omission of Chapter 25 from the merged single HTML file version of the book.
4. Chapter 14, on Colemans of Fair Bluff, NC updated to remove Anna J. Enzor who married a Coleman from the index of numbered descendants, and to correct Mary K. Coleman's number where she had been assigned a second number.
5. Total descendants of Robert Coleman of Nansemond County now indexed is 761 (2 through 762).
6. Chapters 34 through 40 need descendants indexed and Chapter 22 on Greene County Alabama descendants needs lots of analysis and indexing.

Revision 6 Notes - Oct 10, 2002

1. Finished indexing the last offspring of Lute Coleman in Chapter 33 adding them to the outline in Chapter 15 of Colemans of North Hamilton County Tennessee.
2. Indexed the offspring of Millie America Coleman in Chapter 34 adding them to the outline in Chapter 15 of Colemans of North Hamilton County Tennessee.
3. Indexed the offspring of Nancy Easter Coleman in Chapter 35 adding them to the outline in Chapter 15 of Colemans of North Hamilton County Tennessee.
4. Added the name index of Numbered descendants to the book for the first time. This index was generated automatically using a perl script to process the HTML files that make up the book.
5. Total descendants of Robert Coleman of Nansemond County now indexed is 804 (2 through 805).

Revision 7 Notes - Oct 12, 2002

1. Changed Indexing to show only the alphabetical list.
2. Added links from the index to the first occurrence of each person as a:
 1. Child,
 2. Adult, and
 3. Parent.

These links are shown with one single letter (C, A, or P) when available.

3. Added links from the person's name to the occurrence of that name in the index.
4. Numerical Index could return if useful in the future.

Revision 8 Notes - Nov 04, 2002

1. Added offspring of William Louis Coleman in Chapter 20 on Rachel Coleman adding them to the outline in Chapter 15 of Colemans of North Hamilton County Tennessee.
2. Indexed the offspring of Benjamin Franklin Coleman in Chapter 36 adding them to the outline in Chapter 15 of Colemans of North Hamilton County Tennessee.
3. Added the numerically sequenced index of Numbered descendants to the table of contents for the first time. This index was generated automatically using a perl script to process the HTML files that make up the book.
4. Total descendants of Robert Coleman of Nansemond County now indexed is 881 (2 through 822).

Revision 9 Notes - Nov 11, 2002

1. Finished indexing descendants from chapters 38 through 40.

Revision 10 Notes - Jan 12, 2003

After an intense two and a half weeks of incorporating known information into Chapter 22 on the descendants of Charles Coleman and Mary Roundtree in Greene County and Bibb County Alabama and before I was quite ready to move it all online, my hard disk went out Thanksgiving day with my last backup 3 months old. After much effort and a busy holiday/birthday season, the work picks up were last I had it here online. Robert Hook's data from Family Tree Maker Online and personal correspondence has been mostly integrated into the standard format and index numbering system.

Revision 11 Notes - Feb 12, 2003

Completed the incorporation of known information about Chapter 22, the descendants of Charles Coleman and Mary Roundtree in Bibb and Greene Counties of Alabama. Reached the 1000 milestone in indexing descendants of Robert Coleman of Nansemond County Virginia. Added spouses to the name index at the end using "S" numbers separate from the descendants numbering sequence.

Revision 12 Notes - Mar 06, 2004

Updated Chapter 27, Descendants of Zachariah Taylor Coleman of Putnam County TN and Woodruff County, AR. Building on information I received via emails from Paul W. Patterson, I then researched Zach's family in the 1900, 1910, and the 1920 U.S. Census. I then found posts on GenForum's Coleman family forum by Carolyn Pfaus, learned more, and then contacted her. She confirmed my suspicion that her Mildred and the child known as Lucy were the same person.

Revision 13 Notes - Mar 08, 2004

Chapter 15. The Colemans of North Hamilton County, TN no longer outlines all known descendants of that area. This caused great difficulty indexing those detailed paragraphs about those descendants. Therefore, a table showing what chapters follow containing information on each of Charles S. Coleman's children, and several of his grandchildren is shown with hyperlinks to take the reader directly to those chapters.

Revision 14 Notes - Jun 10, 2004

Chapter 14. The Colemans of Columbus County, NC was updated to show the family of Harris Coleman and wife Rebecca based on three sources. Lot Caswell Coleman was included in this family based on a posting on Coleman Family Forum by James Lawson stating that Lot was the son of Harris Coleman, b. 1811 and on the fact the two are both living in Tatoms District of Columbus County in the 1880 U.S. Census.

Revision 15 Notes - Apr 29, 2005

So far in 2005 I've slowly made numerous updates but failed to mention them here. So, I'll briefly list the highlights of recent updates:

1. Chapter 14. The Colemans of Columbus County, NC was updated incorporating will of Alpha Jane Coleman Faulk where she lists heir of brothers Bethel V. Coleman, Amos W. Coleman, Daniel J. Coleman, and sister Tabitha (Bitha) Coleman Godwin. Alpha's will also lists her other sisters as Sarah M. Bigby, W. E. Tart, and Mary C. Coleman.

Descendants listed in the will of Warren Jackson Coleman were also incorporated.

2. Chapters 8 and 9 on the brothers, Samuel and Sampson Coleman were updated to give abstracts of the deeds and reference the exact page of the deed books where is found the fact they are selling land owned previously by William Coleman and that they are now planters of a particular location in South Carolina.
3. Created a merged HTML file of the entire book, a Zip file of same, and an MS Word file of the entire book. This last took a very long time to convert and is currently missing the maps and other images of the original. It also needs to be formatted to show page numbers in the Table of Contents, rather than just the hyperlinks from its HTML predecessor. But this is the first time in about three years or more that the book has been available in Word format!
4. The Site Map, index.html, was updated to include the link to the Word file and give the new sizes of the three (HTML, ZIP, and WORD files).
5. Added Phil Coleman to list of References and added links to his listing in the references file from Chapter 24 on Thomas Coleman of Hamilton County, TN
6. Integrated information about William Louis Coleman and wife Della Clementine Taylor which had been at the bottom of Chapter 20, up into the proper locations where they appear in proper order.
7. Fixed Chapter Numbers listed for children of Robert Coleman, II in Chapter 2.

Next Priorities

On the priority list are these items yet left to be done:

1. Evaluation and incorporation of any data YOU SEND TO ME.
2. Obtain more online U.S. Census data from 1880 for folks in Alabama, as recorded in Chapter 22.
3. Obtain more online U.S. Census data from 1880 for folks in Tennessee.
4. Obtain more online U.S. Census data from 1880 for folks in NC and SC.
5. Obtain U.S. Census data for Colemans in 1900, 1920, and 1930 U.S. Census records in the library.
6. Make a thorough study of Colemans in Marion County, SC and related lines through Bertie, Robeson and Columbus Counties of North Carolina.
7. Make a thorough study of Stephen Coleman in Fairfield County, SC to determine whether a link to Robert Coleman of Nansemond County, VA can be established.

Revision 16 Notes - May 9, 2007

1. Revised indexing method to facilitate extraction of a GEDCOM file showing spouses of descendants with their family. The spouse hyperlinks to/from the index files are broken until I can rework the index files to conform.
2. Provided updated descendants report in XML format. Clicking on any person's name should close up all descendants and simplify viewing of one or two branches or comparing a few branches while hiding the rest. Many of the descendants are not included due to incomplete markup of the work with indexing tags, a work in progress.

3. Provided new photos of those in the branch from Hamilton County, TN, courtesy of Cy Yarborough, original author of the chapters for those from that location.

Revision 17 Notes - February 20, 2008

1. Added Chapter 41 on Daniel V. Coleman of Tattnall and Toombs County, Georgia. Daniel originated from Columbus County, SC. This information developed from a tip by Kim Coleman, Coleman Family DNA project coordinator.
2. Updated References file and table of contents

Revision 18 Notes - April 2, 2008

1. Added a list of Internet Tools for genealogy researchers.

Revision 19 Notes - April 20, 2008

1. Updated Chapter 23 on Elizabeth Coleman of Hamilton County, TN.
2. Updated Chapter 19 on Mary Polly Coleman of Hamilton County, TN.
3. Updated References file

Revision 20 Notes - May 6, 2008

4. Updated sitemap.html to use a new graphic and all new imagemap of hyperlinks. Added link for Varners of Hamilton County, TN and link for Tattnall County, Georgia. Also added links for the Internet Tools page and The Coleman Family by the American Genealogical Research Institute. Used the U.S. Census Bureau's Tigerline Map Server to create images for each state on the sitemap showing county lines, population centers, and bodies of water. Patched together images to complete a mosaic for each state, thickened the state border, reduced the image size and then thickened the state borders again.
5. Added U.S. Census data for Colemans in Georgia
6. Cleaned up errors in the cascading style sheet (CSS).
7. Brought back the information on Stephen Coleman's line through Fairfield, SC and Lincoln County, TN. In January 2003, this information had been misplaced in Chapter 5, where Doris Ragan had suggested it might fit. Later, she said it was likely her Stephen Coleman was from the Halifax Coleman line. I moved it out of Chapter 5 some time later. Now, it is back as Appendix G, Colemans of Lincoln County, Tennessee. Updated the table of contents, numeric and name index files to correspond with this addition of Appendix G.
8. Updated this preface file with Rev 17, 18, 19 and 20 notes
9. Updated Merge script adding Chapter 41 Colemans of Tattnall County, GA and Appendix G, Colemans of Lincoln County, TN.
10. Updated allnanse.htm and allnanse.doc, this complete work in one file, one in HTML, the other in MS Word 97-2003 format.

Revision 21 Notes - May 10, 2008

11. Provided U.S. Census records for Colemans in Georgia in 1820, 1850, 1860, 1870, and 1880. Read the Census pages for 1850 and 60 as indicated by Ancestry or print indexes of Coleman heads of households and recorded names of all relatives in the household.
12. The prior update of the sitemap anticipated this delivery, so did not need an update.

Revision 22 Notes - May 15, 2008

13. Added names of Bestor Wynne Coleman line as indicated by Kim Coleman, and researched myself.
14. Updated Fairbluff Colemans.

Revision 23 Notes - May 21 through 27, 2008

15. After giving up on incorporating an XML style sheet with a library of Javascript routines written to do a descendants chart for each chapter, I elected to abandon the XML solution and generate Javascript addendums for each chapter. I implemented a text-searchable descendants chart at the start of each chapter based on my library of Javascript routines and an addendum listing the members of the chapter and their parent index number.
16. Made corrections in Chapters 31 and 32 until descendency chart was correct. Fixed index numbers for those marked as 973 (4 individuals now indexed as 1209-1211 and 973).
17. Added descendants of Susan Coleman Starnes in Chapter 30 based on information shared by Opal Starnes Wood, found on a website of Starnes marriages in Tennessee, and found in the U.S. Census.
18. Noted that a letter mentioned on COLEMAN-L states Ridgeway, Fairfield Co., SC Colemans moved to Princeton, Dallas County, Arkansas by 1904. I already had Putnam County Colemans moving their from Zach T. Coleman's line.

Revision 24 Notes - June 10, 2008

19. Corrected Chapter 6 Moses Coleman of Edgecombe County, NC
20. Corrected Chapter 14 Colemans of Fair Bluff, Columbus County, NC.
21. Minor editorial corrections around U.S. Census references in Chapter 30 Susan Coleman Starnes
22. Added wife and children of James William Harvey who married Minnie Darinda Standefer to Chapter 25 Descendants of Barbara Coleman Harvey of Tennessee

Revision 25 Notes - June 17, 2008

23. Added more to Chapter 3 on the Hardy and Aval Coleman Family.
24. Added Chapter 42 on descendants of Zilpha Coleman who married Henry Pitt and relocated to Sumner County, Tennessee. Information provided by Joyce Powell, confirmed and expanded via U.S. Census records.
25. Total descendants raised from 1232 to 1294 with families with surnames of Pitt, Buzby and English.

Revision 26 Notes - Dec 17, 2008

26. Added Chapter 43 about descendants of Mary Coleman, youngest daughter of Charles Washington 'Wash' Coleman, of Bledsoe & Hamilton County, TN and later of Putnam Co, TN. Mary married Noah Martin and began a family in Putnam County, but between 1900 and 1910, the family relocated to Stallard Springs, in Warren County, Kentucky. Information provided by LeAnne von Neumeyer Hull Shanahan, confirmed and expanded via U.S. Census Records and quotes from others online.
27. Added Martins raising the total descendants from 1300 to 1350.

Revision 27 Notes - Dec 30, 2008

Updated Chapter 12 Ellen Coleman who married Cornelius Jordan

Updated Chapter 24 Descendants of Thomas Jackson Coleman of Walden's Ridge, TN and Kentucky. Added photos and information about the descendants of Albert Marion Francis Coleman contributed by Mary Margaret Fussell Dykes.

Revision 32 Notes - Feb 18, 2009

Updated Chapter 20 Descendants of Rachel Coleman Brown (1822-1893) of Hamilton County, TN and Madison County, AR. Added photos of The William and Della Clementine Taylor Coleman Family, The Agnes and Ira Miller Watt Family, a wedding photo of Floyd Avery Coleman and Elva Mae Watt, and their grocery store.

Revision 33 Notes - Mar 02, 2009

Added five appendices giving narratives of the origin of the Colemans of Bibb and Greene Counties of Alabama, and giving a connection espoused by Robert Franklin Coleman in a letter to his daughter dated 1975. This was for a class project of hers at the time, and gives very little. Yet, what is revealed in this account is very interesting in the fine details about the earliest generations back to Robert Coleman of Nansemond County Colonial Virginia. When I received this account from Tom Littleton, I was amazed and stunned by the details recited about so early a lineage. So many of these details that I thought would never be unearthed were known to a circle of researchers in the 1970s. J.P. Coleman probably viewed much of the information in much greater detail, as he alludes to it in his book. Ben Holtzclaw, Coleman Clement, Mary Morgan Glass, and Charles E. Humphries all provide a window into the knowledge of this circle from several decades ago.

Also added Chapter 44 on the Colemans of Bibb, Sumter and Choctaw Counties of Alabama after a descendant of this family contacted me about trying to understand his fit into the family after having his DNA tested. This person is probably the first person to have no known connection prior to DNA testing and then to make a connection to my work after getting the DNA test results.

Revision 34 Notes - Mar 05, 2009

Added preface entries for Rev 33 and 34 after updating the five new appendices to include a navigation menu at the top and bottom of each.

Revision 35 Notes - Jan 02, 2010

- 32. Added in birth and death years, spouse's name, and children for Mary Polly Coleman, daughter of Moses Coleman per personal correspondence from Michael Blackwell.
- 33. Corrected the list of children of Vivian Coleman and Francis Floyd per personal correspondence from Michael Blackwell.

Revision 36 Notes - Mar 28, 2010

- 34. Updated link in references list to the D.V. Coleman Bio previously found in the USGenWeb State Archives Search engine for

- Georgia, but now only found in the usgwarchives ftp site. This site apparently is not indexed by the major search engines.
35. Fixed links in Chapter 14 on Colemans in Fairbluff and Columbus County, NC to properly point to the references list for the D.V. Coleman Bio.

Revision 37 Notes - July 09, 2010

36. Updated Chapter 14 on Colemans of Fairbluff, Columbus County, NC who removed to Smith County, Mississippi. Dempsey Coleman offspring went and Zilpha Coleman married Alfred Yelverton of Fairbluff and they went. A large number of Yelverton's were found in the U.S. Census for Smith Co, MS from 1840 to 1920 or beyond. Numerous references to them are found online.

PREFACE

This book online is a project to document information I have gathered or received for my line from my first ancestor to arrive in the British Colony known as Virginia Territory, or what would become the United States. The issue of information sources is one which gained importance to me some years ago, though I've known it was important to record my sources in a permanent fashion even from the first. It is important to keep a log book of your efforts since it is difficult to recall the source of information read or heard many days ago, let alone longer periods. However, while I recorded sources when gathering information, I did not take the time to enter that information in my database initially. In this work, I am starting much earlier in the timeline than ever before. I am considerably further in the process of maturing my information (16+ years), and am thinking more in terms of publishing information to others, rather than just indexing it online for myself or, coincidentally, for others.

So, this work should contain square brackets around a surname for every item of information I record here so that the reader and I will know where I got each item. Had it all been fiction, I would never have written so many people of the same name.

I do not kid myself that recording sources assures me or the reader that any of the information recorded here is correct or accurate. We can not know what history failed to record, we can only fail to uncover all the obscure records that may be found from history. Even primary records such as court documents, church registries, and family bibles are not necessarily accurate, especially when it comes to spelling names. With low literacy rates in the 1600s and 1700s, meaning few could even write their own names, it is not surprising that officials of the day had to do their best when attempting to record the spellings of the names they were given orally. Thus, Cader Coleman has been recorded as a member of a jury many times over a one-week period, often several times per day, and every occurrence of his name is generally spelled differently than the previous one. So consistency was not a requirement of the court recorder that week!

If a researcher were to trust or accept the accuracy of the primary records, and were to stipulate a requirement of three independent primary sources in order to prove authenticity of a family relationship, such a researcher would find it difficult to ever publish any line extending back much before 1850. Finding even one primary source is problematic due to the number of fires, accidental or in times of war, which destroyed court houses and all the records stored there.

Suffice to say that my work published here does not bar any source, though I rely most on transcriptions of primary sources which I believe and hope to be more accurate than if I were to try to read the manuscript of the period, even as late as the early 1800s. Worse, some of the relationships or existence of persons listed has not been corroborated by any reputable source, but has been given to me word of mouth or email by someone who "saw it on the Internet" without even a URL for a source. While such information is highly in doubt until verified by more reputable sources; it does provide a starting point for your effort, should you take up the cause. When and if you do find reliable evidence in support or denial of information shown here, I hope you will immediately send me the reference and the information, as this is a work in progress that will never be finished.

Therefore, consider the work here as a collection of obscure facts and a possible line, though quite unproven, which is wholly unreliable, at least in some points, but is meant as a starting point for your work and my further efforts. I hope you will join me in a collaborative effort to work this big puzzle by helping me turn over all the pieces.

I am interested in collecting any family descendants of the line from Robert Coleman of Nansemond County Virginia and I believe there are several lines out there which could be connected if those doing the work become interested in pooling resources. This work is quite incomplete in so many areas it hardly bears mentioning a few. However, I'm especially interested in filling in gaps such as:

37. descendants of Cader's son, Charles Coleman, Sr.
38. descendants of Charles Coleman, Jr., who I believe is the same as the earliest settler of the name Coleman to North Hamilton County Tennessee. There is an exhaustive account of the people in this family written by Cleveland (Cy) Yarborough [\[Yarborough\]](#) based on interviews and on court records of that area. This group is more completely documented in that work. With permission, I have updated that work and made it available to those sharing their lines with me.
39. lines through Greene County, Alabama. J.P. Coleman, once governor of Mississippi and author of the work, The Robert Coleman Family from Virginia to Texas, 1652-1965, recorded a great deal about this family and had access to a great deal more saying the sum of it all would fill a book. There are a number of articles and family records to be rediscovered by the present generation which should add considerably to this branch of the family.
40. your line, if you are connected to those recorded here.

Chapter 1 First Generation

A brief note about navigating the work. The names that appear as links in the chapters are links back to the index. The index contains up to three links for each person. Where available there is a link designated by a single letter, C, A, or P, to the first occurrence of the person as a child, adult, and parent, respectively. This is particularly useful when the child is not mentioned as an adult until a subsequent chapter.

(1) Robert Coleman, I (c1650-c1710) was my earliest known ancestor. In her book The Coleman Family of Mobjack Bay Virginia, Nicol, 1998, p. 43 records the fact another Robert Coleman, of Isle of Wight County, Virginia transported a headright Robert Coleman receiving land 29 Sep 1667 for the fact. Nicol speculates this could have been our Robert Coleman, I of Nansemond County, Virginia. If (1) Robert Coleman, I arrived in 1667 at the age of 17, he would have been born in 1650, but there is no proof of his age at any point in his life. Any assignment of a year of birth or death for him is merely speculation. The purpose is to identify him apart from the many other Robert Colemans of the day, not to mention of his line, for he was first of four in a line. The designation of I, II, III, and IV to identify these four Robert Colemans is again simply my attempt to identify them, not that they were recorded with these numbers. So, if you quote my years or my use of I, II, III, or IV, then you are obligated to point out that these identifiers are for discussion purposes only, not representative of how the men were recorded in any place that has yet been found.

To borrow a page from the diary of Jennie I. Coleman, writing in the early 1800s from her house in Fairfield County South Carolina, the (1) Robert Coleman, I, first in my line to arrive in Virginia, was likely from Wales. [\[Coleman, J. P., 1965\]](#) Other sources record the fact the Coleman name was never associated with gentry. No Coleman lords or ladies were recorded in English history, yet they distinguished themselves frequently in the founding of the Virginia Colony.

The first recorded Coleman to Virginia was Thomas Coleman and his wife who came with the last of the colonists sent by Sir Walter Raleigh (sic) to settle on Roanoke Island off the coast of North Carolina. Previous attempts at a colony further North had failed and this group attempted to settle far enough South to avoid the harshness of the Northern New England winters. The colony was not resupplied the following year due to mounting tensions between King Phillip's Spanish Armada and Queen Elizabeth's England that resulted as privateering by Sir Francis Drake and others licensed by the English crown became an intolerable disturbance in the trade or looting of the Spanish dominion in what is now Mexico. A resupply effort with meager (small) ships failed to leave coastal England due to the threat of invasion of English territorial waters by the Spanish Armada. This failed resupply effort only resulted in privateering off the English coast. It took another two and a half years before a resupply voyage could reach the colony, four years after they had been planted there. What ever happened will remain unknown, but the word "Croatoan" was found carved in a tree. There is speculation the colonists moved inland to settle and assimilate with native tribes of the area, but the tribes they would likely have befriended were soon wiped out by war with other tribes. So, whether lost directly before they could assimilate, or whether wiped out after joining with local tribes, there were never any fair haired natives found to represent their progeny. There are many good references on the colonization of the North American continent by Europeans in general and the English specifically. Some of my favorites are:

41. Stick, David, Roanoke Island, The Beginnings of English in America, University of North Carolina Press, 1983. This is an excellent account of the earliest exploration even of Greenland and Iceland by Norsemen and Vikings up through the landing of the first truly permanent colony of Englishmen in Virginia. This very detailed account was written to laymen by a historian who enjoyed familiarity with the historical documents and legends of our ancestral settlement efforts.
42. Wertenbaker, Thomas Jefferson, The Planters of Colonial Virginia, Jefferson Princeton Univ. Press:Princeton, NJ and the Oxford Univ. Press:London, 1922. This thick tome gives a thorough telling of lots of interesting stories occurring throughout the time period from the arrival of the first permanent settlers through the revolutionary war. A more complete retelling of the events in the lives and times of our colonial ancestors in Virginia from 1600s through the 1700s and into the 1800s would be difficult to find. This reference, above all others I have perused, demonstrates the pattern of events that lead to open rebellion in Virginia against the exploitation policies that grew to overburden the colonists particularly about 1650. The retelling of Bacon's Rebellion, the deeds and misdeeds of Berkeley as the governor of the colony duly appointed by the King, the loyalty of the colonists to the King after his ouster back in Britain, and the trouble the colonists receive for their loyalty when he is reinstated are all told in a wonderful narrative that almost reads like a novel in this fine work.

43. Rubin, Louis D., Jr., Virginia - A bicentennial History one of a series of books called "States and the Nation" published by W. W. Norton & Company of New York for the American Association for State and Local History of Nashville, TN, 1977. This book is written to young adults and touches on some great stories but leaves out so much of the entertaining detail that will be found in the other references above.

In the group of Englishmen returning to Roanoke four years after the colony was founded, a Robert Coleman is found who drowned trying to get ashore in stormy seas where many men perished. Whether he was revered for his action or whether Robert is just a common name, it remains to be seen. But the facts as are known today show that four different Robert Colemans arrived in the Virginia Colony by 1700. [Nicol, 1998; Coleman, J. P., 1965?] These are commonly referred to by the county in which each settled. Therefore, we refer to Robert of Gloucester County (also known as Mobjack Bay Coleman line), Robert of Charles City County, Robert of Isle of Wight, and lastly, (1) Robert of Nansemond County. Nansemond County is now called Suffolk City County, so when you look at modern maps, be sure to note the new name.

This work is to tell the story of the line of (1) Robert Coleman of Nansemond County.

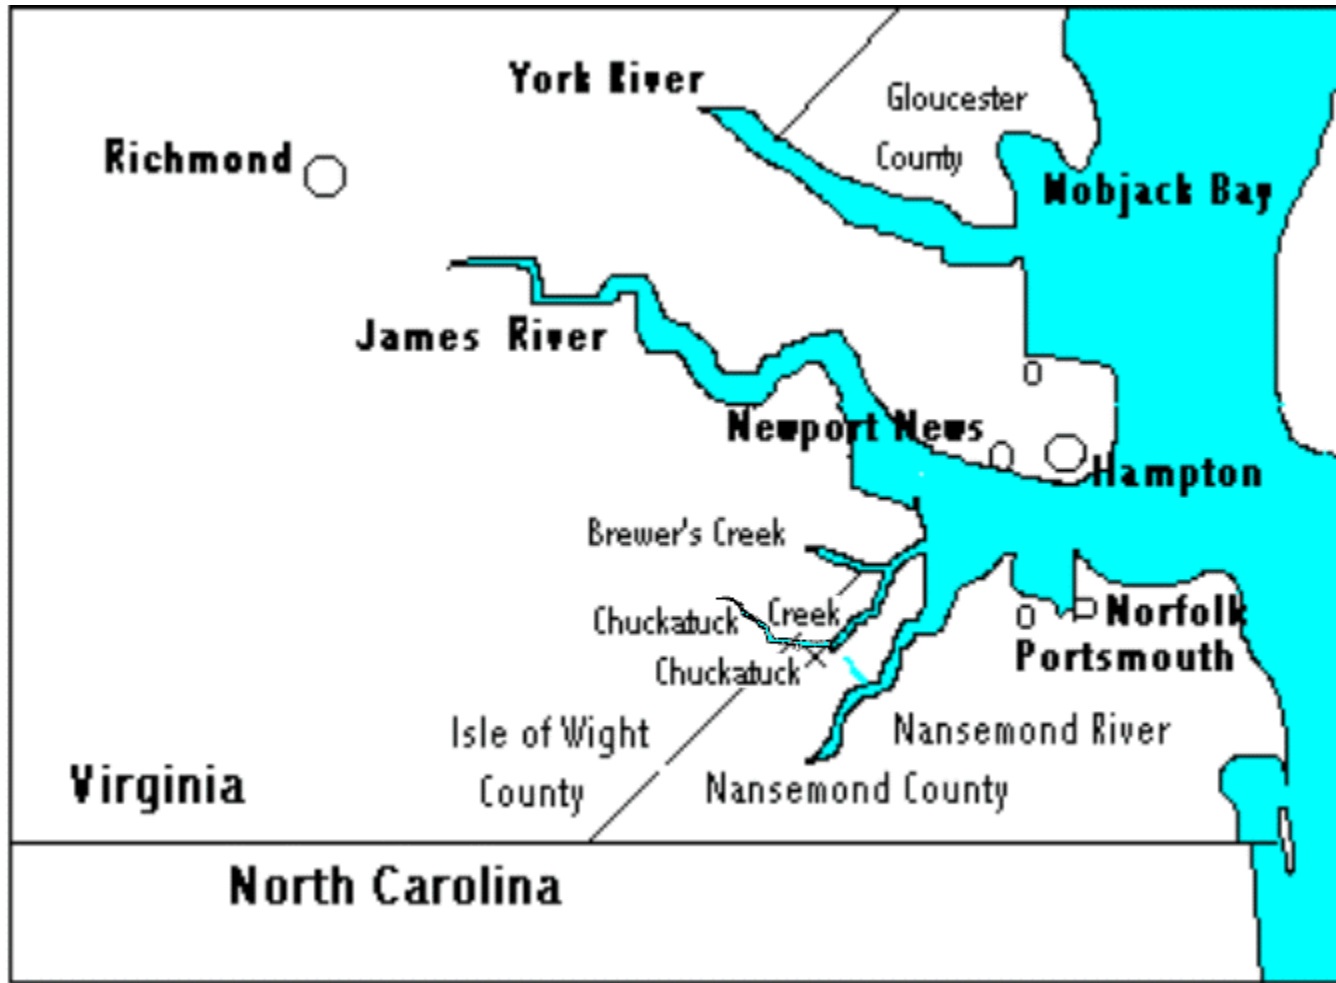

(1) Robert Coleman of Nansemond may have been brought over to Virginia by Robert Coleman of Isle of Wight. "On 29 Sep 1667, Robert of Isle of Wight was granted 634 acres in Isle of Wight Co. - 300 purchased from Ambrose Bennet and 334 for transporting seven persons, including a Robert Coleman (Pat. Bk. 6, p181). The headright Robert Coleman may be the Nansemond County Robert [Coleman] in the previous paragraph. Nansemond and Isle of Wight bordered each other." [Nicol, 1998, p. 43]

If this is our (1) Robert I of Nansemond, he arrived in 1667 and may have served a five year period of indenture to Robert of Isle of Wight. As a freeman in 1672, he would have been employed in what ever line of work seemed most opportune. After some period of 12 years, he has gained the clout to patent his first tract of land.

Nugent recorded that on 20 Apr 1684, Robert Coleman was granted 530 acres of land and another 400 acres that had belonged to Richard & Miles Lewis since 29 Jan 1667 [Nugent]. Nicol recorded that on 28 Oct 1697, another 450 acres was granted to Robert Coleman. By 1704, according to the Quit Rent Roll which Mississippi Governor, J. P. Coleman viewed in London [Coleman, 1965], and which is available online and in the book The Planters of Colonial Virginia by Thomas Jefferson Wertenbaker our Robert Coleman was listed as owning 1400 acres. This is all that is known of him.

J.P. Coleman's book, p. 80 reported that the Colemans and Jordans both came together from Nansemond County Virginia to Edgecombe County North Carolina where they were recorded from 1745 to 1800. With that in mind, I noted the presence of Thomas Jordan in Nansemond County. Nugent shows Thomas Jordan patented 550 acres on 22 Oct 1666. Other references show that William Nichols, Hedgepeths, and Pews were some other families from Nansemond County Virginia who passed through Edgecombe County, NC, making it their home for a time. While there were very accurate surveys made with magnetic compass and steel chains, there was economic incentive to under report acreage, since less acreage meant less tax to pay. So while some figures may be rather precise, others may vary by 50%.

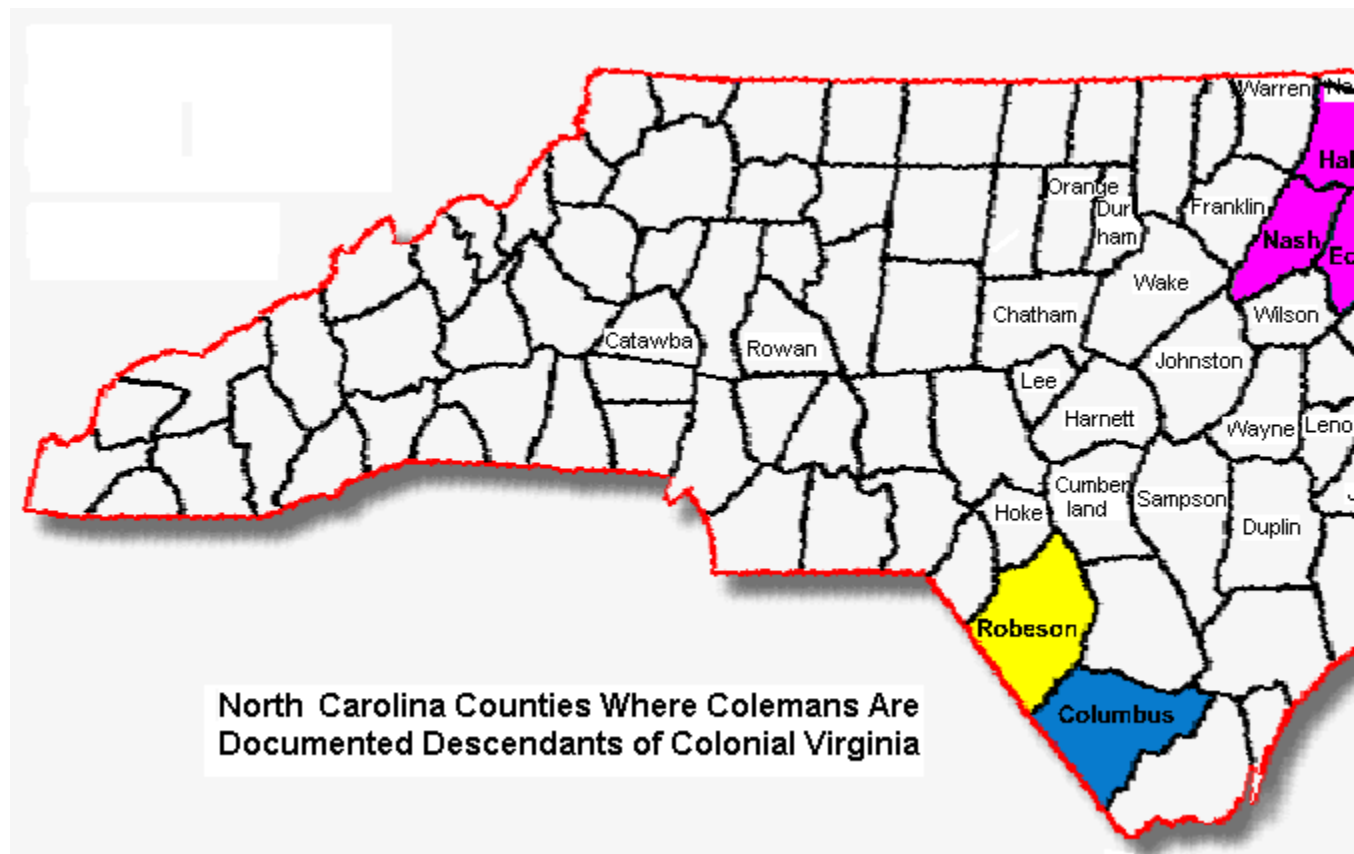

Locating Chuckatuck, the town and the creek, in Southeastern Virginia

The above map shows modern day towns around the Chesapeake Bay area in relation to that area where Robert Coleman of Nansemond County, Virginia first patented land in 1684.

The first land granted was west of a reedy salt marsh on a branch of the Chuckatuck. The second was not well described, but was land first patented by those who sold it to Robert, Richard & Miles Lewis. They had patented it on 29 Jan 1667. It was situated adjacent to land of Jeremiah Rutter and John Turner. The third plot was said to lie near Wickham Swamp in Upper Parish adjacent to John & Thomas Milner. The present day Chuckatuck Creek flows SE out of Isle of Wight County toward the town of Chuckatuck where it turns NE to flow into the James River. Chuckatuck is situated South of the James River and closer to the coast than Jamestown. It lies North of the Nansemond River, which drains into the James near where the James River reaches Chesapeake Bay. The area is very low land subject to tidal incursions which keep the soil marshy and salty. It reminds me of the saying, "If you believe that, I've got some swamp land I'd like to sell ya" Whether Robert's acres were high or low or what the elevations were like in his time are unknown. But these are the clues we have. There are much more detailed maps available online. MapQuest.com is a good source of road maps of this area. Topozone.com was a good source of detailed topographic maps (modern 20th century, not 17th century maps) of this area but lost its free status when it was made a part of Trails.com.

Living near a swamp with no chemicals to fight mosquitos and little known about medicine to fight disease was a most decidedly unhealthy place to settle. This fact was even known to the London Company who stated the fact in their directives about where to settle the Jamestown colonists. I noted with satisfaction that the entire group of Colemans is not found in Nansemond County after the 1704 presence recorded in the Quit Rent Rolls. Apparently the whole group, along with other branches of Colemans, recognized the need to move to a more healthy region, and thus would find a place in Northern Edgecombe County, North Carolina to homestead.

North Carolina Migration Pattern

for descendants of Robert Coleman of Nansemond County Virginia.

Nothing is known of the death of Robert Coleman, I, but it is presumed that a 60 year life span would be a long life for this place and time. Based on that assumption and on the assumption he was born around 1650, we arrive at an assigned year of death of 1710. Again, this is more for identifying the man and the approximate time period he lived than it is to assert any actual date of death which remains to be discovered.

It is interesting to note the early connection with the Roundtree family in a note posted to the COLEMAN-L:

Chapter 2: Second Generation of Nansemond Colemans

(1) Robert Coleman, I of Nansemond County who patented land first in 1684, is known to have had two sons. He may have had a sister named Sarah who married Francis Roundtree.. There may have been others, but no evidence of that is known to this author. J. P. Coleman recorded this in his book:

Robert Coleman of Nansemond is documentarily well established as the father of William Coleman, who died in Edgecombe County, North Carolina, in 1752, and he was also the father of Robert Coleman, who died in the same County, 1761. The Robert Coleman, later to be described herein, patented land in Edgecombe County in 1756. He was in that part of Edgecombe which later became Halifax County, whereas the descendants of Robert Coleman of Nansemond lived in an entirely different section of the original Edgecombe, which then covered not only its present area but parts of other present-day counties, Wilson, for example.

(1) Robert Coleman had at least two known children:

- (2) 1. Robert Coleman, II, b. 1676, d. 1761
(3) 2. William "Wiley" Coleman, b. c1678, d. 1752

Robert Franklin Coleman in a letter to his daughter dated 1975 suggested there was a third son, Charles, but I have not studied the evidence for this and leave it here as an item for future investigation. In fact, he gives a rather different lineage for the Colemans of Nansemond County, VA. See Appendix K.

(2) Robert Coleman, II was born in 1676 [\[McGarr\]](#), in Nansemond County, Virginia. This second Robert in our line, the son of the above (1) Robert Coleman, Ist, (who lived c1650-c1710), died in 1761 in Edgecombe County, North Carolina [\[Nicol 1998\]](#). I have independently verified that a Robert Coleman of Nansemond County died on 10 Jan 1761 [\[Williams, 1956\]](#) Other facts which are listed below seem to support the notion that this Robert Coleman, II is the one whose death is recorded in 1761, which would have made him 85; quite a long life for the period.

(2) Robert Coleman's wife was Susanna Unknown. Robert II lived in Nansemond County, Virginia at least from Aug 15 1739 through Mar 3 1743 according to court records of land patents or sales of which he is party. However, his son, Moses is recorded as patenting land in 1739 on the North side of the Tar River near what is now Tarboro, NC.

Noting the records of (2) Robert Coleman, II's sons, Charles Coleman and Moses Coleman, owning land along the North side of the Tar River in North Carolina, and noting other references to Deep Creek swamp and others, it is apparent the whole family eventually left Virginia to settle in the area north of Tarboro, NC where the Tar River is joined first by Fishing Creek and then by Deep Creek.

Hand drawn map of Tarboro North Carolina area showing Fishing Creek and Deep Creek and Tar River

(2) Robert Coleman, II and wife Susanna Unknown had these children:

Index	Chapter	Name	Approximated year of birth
(4)	3.	Robert Coleman, III,	b. c1700-1710 based on father's birth year
(5)	4.	Charles Coleman,	b. c1702-1712 based on brother's birth year
(6)	5.	Stephen Coleman,	b. c1704-1714 based on brother's birth year
(7)	6.	Moses Coleman, I,	b. c1706-1716 based on brother's birth year
(8)	7.	Theophilus Coleman,	b. c1708-1718 based on brother's birth year
(1351)	None	Aaron Coleman,	b. c1710-1720 based on brother's birth year
[Williams, 1956, Abstracts of the wills of Edgecombe County North Carolina 1733-1856]
Aaron was added based on a 1763 court record abstract naming him guardian of Charles' orphan, Jonathan, calling Aaron an uncle to Jonathan.
[EDGECOMBE COUNTY, NC, Court Minutes of the Pleas & Quarter Sessions -□ 1757 □ 1784 LDS Microfilm #0370142, Posted to USGenWeb State Archives]

(3) William "Wiley" Coleman, was born about 1678 based on his brother (2) Robert Coleman, II's birth year. The earliest deed I've located involving a Coleman in Edgecombe County involves the sale of land by William Coleman just North of the Tar River. I submit this was the same as (3) William Coleman, though the will fails to mention any other Coleman than William and fails to mention William's origin or how he received the land or from whom or even to whom the land was originally patented. Many of the later deeds do one or more of these things and thus offer some clue or assurance of family lineage.

William's sale of land is found in Edgecombe Deeds, 1732-1741. In the index to one of the two parts of the microfilm is found a deed from William Coleman to Samuel Lissums dated 11/2/1739 and proved in August Court, 1740. Here William sold land on the North side of the Tar River. A Richard Lissums has signed as a witness but no Colemans signed. Thus, while it is unclear who William Coleman was with respect to origin or where he went, it is possible, perhaps even likely, that this is the William Coleman who came from Nansemond, as the other group in that portion of Edgecombe that became Halifax would be at some distance Northeast of the Tar River.

William died with a will dated 29 Dec 1749, probated Feb. 1752. His will records his wife's first name as Jane, four children, his brother Robert, and witnesses, Moses Coleman, Cornelius Jordan, and Elin Jordan. "Elin" is most likely a misspelling of his daughter, Ellen Coleman, who had married Cornelius Jordan.

(3) William "Wiley" Coleman had these children:

Index	Chapter	Name	Approximated year of birth
(9)	8.	Samuel Coleman ,	b. c1704 based on father's birth year
(10)	9.	Sampson Coleman ,	b. c1705 based on brother's birth year
(11)	10.	Sarah Coleman ,	b. c1706 based on brother's birth year
(12)	11.	Susannah Coleman ,	b. c1708 based on sister's birth year
(13)	12.	Ellen Coleman ,	b. c1710, d. between 1792 and 1794,
		Ellen Coleman married Cornelius Jordan, Sr.

As was previously mentioned, the Coleman's of Nansemond County VA traveled with the Jordan Family (more about Jordans in Chapter 12) to make a new home in Edgecombe County, NC.

The fifth child, Ellen, was discovered in Jordan-L archives. The family of Cornelius Jordan and wife, (13) Ellen Coleman are recorded in Chapter 12. A daughter of Ellen Coleman and Cornelius Jordan married Thomas Sanders. Thomas Sanders is mentioned among the Hedgepeths connected with John Coleman by marriage. It is unclear where this John Coleman fits in the tree.

(1351) Aaron Coleman, b. c1690+/-15 was named \(in 1763 Court Records of Edgecombe County, NC\) as guardian of orphan Jonathan Coleman, son of Charles Coleman, who died in 1761. \(See Chapter 4, Charles Coleman of Edgecombe County, NC.\)

Chapter 3: Robert Coleman, III and Susanor Unknown of Edgecombe County, NC

(4) Robert Coleman, III, (son of (2) Robert Coleman, II, son of (1) Robert Coleman, I) was born in 1705 in Nansemond County, Virginia [McGarr]. Robert III owned a plantation and his wife was Susanor. Noting the presence of a Robert Coleman in Dobbs County, NC and also in Georgetown County SC, I wonder if either were this (4) Robert Coleman, III.

(4) Robert Coleman, III and wife Susanor had these children named in his will, dated 10 Jan 1761 and probated in March of 1761 [Williams, 1956]:

- (14) 1. Robert Coleman, IV, b. c1734

m. Henry Pitt in NC [Powell, 2000]

(14) Robert Coleman, IV was born c1736, married Sarah Story on 08/13/1762, in Edgecombe County, North Carolina. Sarah was born c1736. Robert made a will dated 5 Oct 1790, probated in 1795 in Edgecombe County, North Carolina. His will mentions sister Grace and son. Executors of Robert's will are Jacob Battle, Noah Woodard. Witnesses of Robert's will are Aaron Coleman and Sela Coleman, the brother and sister of the deceased.

There is nothing more known about Sarah Story but there are references to Colemans and Storys in the archives of the rootsweb mail lists for the STORY surname, such as "Abstracts of Edgecombe Co. NC deeds" and "Scotch Irish Colemans from PA mentioned".

(14) Robert Coleman, IV and Sarah Story had these children:

- (26) 1. John Coleman, b. c1750-1770, Edgecombe County, NC?
A closer approximation of his birth may be 1763.
On Dec 16, 1805, John Coleman sold land originally deeded to his father, per Deed Book 11, #734 [Watson, 1969, p. 70]
Though it is wild speculation, this may be the John Coleman who on 06/07/1799 married Rebekah Dancy, daughter of Archibald Dancy.

William Barnes may be the same that had a wife, Jane C. Wilkins, daughter of Willis Wilkins per Deed Book 23 #477 [Watson, 1969, p. 278]

(16) Cader Coleman and Susannah Stephenson

(16) Cader (Cadare, or Kador) Coleman (Robert III, Robert II, Robert I) was born c1740, in Virginia, married Susannah Stephenson on 04/05/1764, in Edgecombe County, North Carolina. I'm guessing Susannah was born c1740. Cadare died between 1800 & 1820 in Fairfield County, South Carolina. Cadare was recorded in Edgecombe County, NC court records from Jan 1763 when he bought land from Arthur Philips, married 15 months later and appears in road building groups and juries until he sold the 447 acre plot he purchased from Philips to Richard Bradley in Jan 1772.

Cader and his wife sold two plots in Fairfield County, SC in 1785, and I presume they had relocated there in or shortly after Jan 1772 upon the sale of their home acreage in North Carolina. On May 28, 1789, Cader records 493 acres in Camden District of South Carolina. In the 1790s, Cader shows on juries in Fairfield County through 1799, but is absent in the local 1829 census.

Below are listed some early deeds of Edgecombe County, NC bearing the name of Cader Coleman. Refer to the Edgecombe County map above for locations referenced in these early deeds. Bodies of water have the same names as they did when these deeds were recorded.

Cadar's death and will records are not known to this author and may be found someday in Fairfield County, SC, or in Alabama, or in some other place I can not yet imagine.

(16) Cadar Coleman and wife Susannah Stephenson had at least two children:

- (29) 1. Charles Coleman,
(1137) 2. Robert Coleman, known to this author. The best documented child of Cadar and Susannah Coleman is Charles Coleman, Sr., whose offspring are documented here in this chapter and the chapter on Fairfield, SC Colemans. Little is known about (1137) Robert Coleman other than he owned land on the Wateree River in Fairfield County, SC which he sold to his brother, Charles Coleman Sr., and then Robert moved back to Virginia. [Coleman, J. P., 1965, pages 374 & 375.] Where (1137) Robert Coleman, son of (16) Cadar Coleman and Susannah Stephenson, settled, whether he married or had any heirs, and what became of him is unknown to this author.

- (29) Charles Coleman, Sr., b. 1762
Occupation blacksmith, gunsmith,
m. before 1787, in SC, Ruth Gibson, daughter of Abraham Gibson.
Abraham Gibson had a brother, the Reverend Jacob Gibson, Jr., who was the pastor of a church in Fairfield. "Gibson's Meeting House" was the place built by the pastor and helpers for this church. This location is mentioned in Colonel Winn's notes as he recorded the activity of the South Carolina militia as it fought the Tories while the Continental Army was away and fought time for the revolutionary army.
Jacob Gibson, Sr. died in May 1735 in Prince Williams, VA. His wife's name was recorded as Jane. The 1820 Census of Fairfield County, SC records:
Gibson, Abraham 2 0 0 0 0 1 - 0 0 0 1 1
Charles' first wife, Ruth Gibson, died 1825 and he remarried (date unknown) to Elizabeth (Eliza) Unknown, b. 1785. Charles Coleman, Sr. died
6 April 1842, in Alabama.

The relationships between Cadar Coleman, son Charles and Charles' first wife, Ruth Gibson are documented by a letter written by Cadar's grandson, James Buchanan Coleman. James was applying for a widow's pension for Elizabeth when he recorded that his father, Charles Coleman, Sr. below, had fought in the Revolution. Acting as executor of his father's estate, James was applying to claim any pension moneys due his widow, Elizabeth. The fact that Charles fought was known to James from family discussions which James recalled hearing of his father Charles and his grandfathers on both sides, Cadar Coleman and Abraham Gibson, telling of their actions in the war.

Sarah Coleman and Robert Carlile

- (18) Sarah Coleman (the daughter of Robert III, Robert II, Robert I) b. 1738, married Robert Carlile on 01/05/1763, in North Carolina. From personal correspondence, Robert Carlile was born 1734, in NC and died 1786 in Edgecombe County, NC [Yarborough, 2001]. Yarborough notes the DAR Patriot's Book, not as reliable a source as transcripts of legal documents, records Robert as born in 1740, and deceased in 1780.

McGarr found this quote in Glen and Kin: "Robert [Carlile]'s will, proved in Nov 1786, named his wife Sarah as an heir, so she died after that date." [Christopher, 1994, p. 236];

McGarr records Robert Carlile was a Revolutionary soldier from North Carolina. There was also a second Robert Carlisle who died 18 years later and who married Nancy (Bell?). [Carlisle, H. 2004].

Robert Carlile and Sarah Coleman had two girls, Sally and Mary Ann, who were orphaned at the time of Robert's death. Stephen Coleman became guardian on 2 Feb 1790.

Robert Carlile and (18) Sarah Coleman had these children:

- (30) 1. Edmund "Edmin" Carlisle, b. 1764, (Edgecombe Co., NC?)
- (31) 2. Rhoda "Rhodey" Carlisle, b. 1766, Edgecombe Co., NC

- (36) 7. Coleman Carlisle, b. August 15, 1770, Caswell, Edgecombe Co., N.C.;

The will of Robert Carlile, spouse of Sarah Coleman, was abstracted from the court records Edgecombe Co., North Carolina. It was dated September 26, 1786 and probated in November Court of 1786. It provides:

Wife & Executrix: Sarah, use of plantation, where I live, all personal property for herself and in raising my children.

Executor. Robert Digges. Witnesses: Elijah Stallings, John Bell [Carlisle, H. 2004].

A second will, 21 years later, is recorded for the other Robert Carlisle who married Nancy, who apparently was the widow of a Bell. He makes reference to his wife's daughter in the will. It is found in Book E, page 81, Edgecombe County, N.C.; dated September 27, 1808, probated in February Court, 1815. It names his wife and executrix as Nancy, lists daughters Rebecca Jackson, Liddy Carlile, and Nancy Riley; son John, daughter Polly Bellflower; daughter Edeah Sealf; son Clark; son Robert, son Joseph, son Cary, and mentions wife's daughter.

(22) Grace Coleman and Noah Woodard

(22) Grace Coleman married Noah Woodard per a deed witnessed by Grace and her parents:

On March 3, 1743-44, Grace Woodard was a witness with Robert Coleman and Susanna Coleman to a deed between John Sickles and John Hatcher, both of Edgecombe County, for 170 acres on the north side of Tar River adjoining that of William Pope and the south side of Swift Creek, as by patent to Jacob Pope. [From this deed,] Thomas Woodard's family from Nansemond County [included]: Grace, Moses, James, Daniel, Reuben, and Noah Woodard.

[Padgett 2008] The problem with the year reported above is that Grace would not have been born yet. So I need to track down the correct year for this deed. But the names match up beautifully.

(24) Hardy Coleman and Aval Unknown

(24) Hardy Coleman was born in 1757. At the age of 74, on August 23, 1832, he appeared before a Judge in Sumner County, TN to claim a pension for service in the Revolutionary War. His name appears at the top of the first page and below it is written "or Colemon, Avey", a reference to his wife, Aval or Avey Coleman. He stated to the judge he returned to make his home in Edgecombe County after the revolution until he moved to Sumner County, where he had made his home for the past 27 or 28 years. He must have relocated around 1804 or 5. He served with Capt. Edward Clinch, Maj. Joseph Clinch, Col. Eaton, and Gen. Ash. He volunteered for 6 months and marched through South Carolina to Georgia serving in the battle of Brier Creek under command of Gen. Ash. Henry Pitt swears to know Hardy Coleman and of his service in the war. Henry is his brother-in-law, husband of Zilpha Coleman, as described below. Also witnessing this document were Josiah Walton and James Brigance.

Following this is an application by Avey Coleman dated 4/25/1851 to claim the benefits of many acts of Congress providing for pensions to the widows of officers and soldiers who served in the war of the revolution. She is listed as 81 years old, placing the year of birth at about 1770. She declared she was married to Hardy on 1/01/1791. She states Hardy died 10/01/1837. She and Hardy were married by Simon Muffin, a Justice of the Peace, in Edgecombe County, NC.

Following the above two records, a third record dated 3/15/1852 shows William Pitt appeared before a justice, 61 years old as of 10/04/1851, and states that his mother was sister of Hardy Coleman, husband of Avey Coleman. 10/04/1791. He says Hardy and Avey Coleman used to live on Town Creek in Edgecombe County, NC about four miles from his parents place. They would ride three on a horse, him behind his mother and a younger sister held in her mother's lap. He states his father moved his family from Edgecombe County to Tennessee in June 1795 or 96, and uncle Hardy brought his family the year after. He mentions Bobby Minor, Elizabeth Minor and Betsy Minor also moved from Edgecombe County, NC to Sumner County, TN.

Today, Town Creek, NC is in Wilson County, meaning in that day, it was in the Southwestern part of Edgecombe County, quite apart from the Northeastern part which became Halifax. Clearly, the children of Robert Coleman, III were spread out all across what was then Edgecombe County, NC.

Next is a corner cut from a family bible record page stating that William Pitt was born 02/04/1791, in conflict with the date given above. I would trust this source over the court record.

He married Aval Unknown per deed dated 20 Dec 1802.

[Watson, 1969, p. 51]

Hardy is listed as the head of his household in Edgecombe County, NC in 1800. Hardy is found in the U.S. Census of Sumner County in 1820. There are other Hardy Coleman's listed in Sumner County U.S. Census in 1850 and 1860.

In the 1850 U.S. Census for Sumner County, District No. ?, dated ?, p 158, house 420, we find another Hardy Coleman, perhaps a son of the one who died 10/01/1837:

Hardy Coleman, 50, Male
Maria Coleman, 32, Fem
Judy Coleman, 17, Fem
Joseph Coleman, 12, Male
Nancy Coleman, 6/12, Fem
Ava Coleman, 76, Fem
Nancy Black, 48, Fem

Also, that year, on page 141, household 417:

Hardy Colman, 46, m
Mariah Colman, 46, f
Elizabeth Colman, 19, f
Joseph Colman, 16, m
Hardy Colman, 6/12, m

And in 1850 on page 535, household 332:

Sethe Colman, 47
Penina Shoemake, 57

In the 1860 U.S. Census for Sumner County, District No. 17, dated 07/04/1860, we find:

Hardy Coleman, 54, Male, White, day laborer
Mariah Coleman, 30, Fem, White
Nancy Coleman, 11, Fem, White
Sally Coleman, 9, Fem, White
Nancy Coleman, 1, Fem, White
Nancy Black, Fem

In the 1870 U.S. Census of Sumner County, only one household of Colemans is indexed. On June 1, 1880, in the 14th District of Sumner County, p 216b, household 19:

Mariah Coleman 45, white female, rents house
Nancy Coleman 20, white female
Sarah Coleman 16, white female
Eliza Coleman 14, white female

In the 1880 U.S. Census of Sumner County, only one household of Colemans is indexed. On June 1, 1880, in the 14th District of Sumner County, p 216b, household 19:

Mariah Coleman 53, white female
Eliza Coleman 21, white female, daughter
J. C. Hunter 25 ? white male, son-in-law
N. V. Hunter 27 or 29 white female, daughter
Smith Loya or Toya 58 or 38 or 28 white male, border
Elvira Loya or Toya 50 or 30 white female, border

In 1900, only one household with a Coleman is indexed. In the 14th District, date June 8, 1900, page 226B, household 111:

Sallie Walsh, head, white fem b. Dec 1853, age 47
Richard Walsh, son, white, male b. Sept 1889, age 10
Ada M. Walsh, dau, white, fem, b. May 1893, age 7
Allie C. Walsh, dau, white, fem, b. Nov 1895, age 4
Mariah E. Coleman, mother, white, fem, b. May, 1820, age 80, widow

Based on clues above, it is likely the Coleman family line in Sumner County, Tennessee was as shown below, though it remains to be proven that the children shown below were actually theirs. Hardy and Aval were married in 1791, so any Coleman born within 20 years after that date and living in Sumner County is assumed to be theirs. It is apparent everyone but Hardy, son of Hardy and Aval, moved away by 1860, prior to the Civil War, and that Mariah was the only one of the Coleman's to remain in Sumner County.

No Joseph Christopher from Tennessee appears in the Revolutionary War records of HQO.

There is a Rebecca Christopher, 70 yrs old in 1850 U.S. Census of Greenville, SC living with Marion and Rebecca Hall. Chapter 4: Charles Coleman of Edgemcombe County, NC

(5) Charles Coleman, Sr., son of Robert Coleman, II, is shown in Deed Book OO, p. 43, where reference is made to the fact that land adjacent to that of Charles Coleman was sold on 24 Sep 1759. This land was North of the Tar River [Bradley, p. 3], probably located just North of present day Tarboro, NC located in Edgemcombe County, near the border with Halifax County, where Deep Creek and Fishing Creek join the Tar River.

The will of (62) Charles Coleman, Jr. records three children:

Chapter 5: Stephen Coleman of Edgecombe County, North Carolina

Nothing is known about (6) Stephen Coleman, son of Robert Coleman, II. There has been confusion about this Stephen Coleman, his nephew who, per his will in Edgecombe County, NC, died 29 Mar 1803 and was married to Esther, and a Stephen Coleman line through Halifax Co., NC and, later, Limestone County, Alabama, per Doris Jean Elam Ragan, another Coleman researcher.

Chapter 6. Moses Coleman of Edgecombe County, NC

(7) Moses Coleman, son of Robert Coleman, II, is mentioned in Deed Book OO, p. 125, where reference is made to 200 acres of land patented by Moses Coleman on 8 Jun 1739 and sold by Moses to James Barnes on 7 Jan 1743. Thus Moses Coleman owned land from 1739 to 1743 just North of the Tar River [Bradley, 1995, p. 8], probably located just North of present day Tarboro, NC located in Edgecombe County, near the border with Halifax County, where Deep Creek and Fishing Creek join the Tar River.

(7) Moses Coleman left a will dated 2 Mar 1760, probated June 1760 listing his wife Mary and 4 children:

- (180) 1. Amos Coleman,
- (181) 2. John Coleman,
- (182) 3. Moses Coleman, II,
- (183) 4. Christian Coleman,

[Williams, Ruth Smith, 1956]

(182) Moses Coleman, II left a will dated May 25, 1799 probated in Bladen County, NC. His will shows his wife's name was Luraine.

"Lurana" was possibly born a Faulk. [Roper\(1998,1999\)]

Another source states the Will abstract from Bladen County, dated 1761 gave these children: [Campbell, Wanda S., 1962]

- (181) 1. John Coleman
- (182) 2. Moses Coleman
- (183) 3. Mary Coleman
- (180) 4. Amos Coleman

[Kathy, 1998]

This suggests possibly the daughter was named "Christian" but went by "Mary", or it may mean two Moses Colemans died one year apart in the two counties, Edgecombe and Bladen. I am thinking it took a year before the death of the landowner, Moses Coleman of Edgecombe, reached his non-resident county court office of Bladen where he also owned land. But this is only a guess.

Edgecombe County Deedbook 14, page 118, deed dated 4 Nov 1811, date recorded Nov. Ct. 1811, Moses Coleman grants to Redmund Curl, a tract of land beginning at a gum in a corner in William Cohoon (dec'd) line then east to a lightwood stump a corner Fredrick Proctor dec'd line then south to a pine a corner (Samuel Moor) line then west to a red oak a corner then south to a pine a corner then west to a maple in a small branch then down the various courses of said branch to beginning, containing 113 acres, signed Moses Coleman (mark), wit. E. Bullock, (?) Walls (?). FHC film 0018891, film is not well focused and hard to read. Abs. 10-28-99.

(7) Moses Coleman, I, b. c1706 (birth year is a speculative estimate based on family relationships)

It is believed he married Luraine Faulk and that she was the mother of his children.

(182) Moses Coleman, II (Moses I, Robert II, Robert I)

b. c1740-50 Edgecombe NC, also lived in Johnson, Bladen, and Columbus Counties of North Carolina.

[Roper]

d. 1799 (will on file Bladen Co NC) [Roper]

His will gives his wife's name as Luraine; Roper gives it as "Lourena (possibly FAULK)".

Per his will dated May 25, 1799 [Campbell, Wanda S., 1962], their children were:

Sons:

- (184) 1. John Coleman, b. c1760 [based on brother, Theophilus].
- (185) 2. Theophilus Coleman, b. 1761, d. 1845, m. Keziah
[Roper, 1999]
left a will in Columbus County NC 9 July 1845 Will Book A p23. [Roper, 1999]
Descendants given below from wills of Columbus County, NC.
- (186) 3. Amos Coleman, married Winnifred
[Roper, 1999]
- (187) 4. Phillip Coleman married Sarah Stephens
[Roper, 1999]
Sarah was daughter of William Stephens who was granted land east of Fair Bluff in 1796.
William Stephens was son of Barnabas and Charity Brown Stephens of Bladen
County, NC.
- (188) 5. Moses Coleman, III, b. c1765 [based on year of first marriage - 25]
Moses married first c1790 Treasy Cohoon (mother of his children), Treasy was the daughter of William Cohoon, Sr. and his wife, Sarah. Treasy had a brother named (85x) William Cohoon, Jr.
John Cohoon sold land in Edgecombe County to William Cohoon, Sr.
and was probably related to this Cohoon family as well.
Moses married 2nd c1809 Mary Unknown, widow of Simon Cahoon [Roper, 1998]
Moses III went to Kentucky [Roper, 1999]
- (189) 6. Dempsey Coleman, b. c1778, d. 1823, married Keziah Faulk [Roper, 1999]
left a will in Columbus County NC May 1823 Will Book A p48 [Roper, 1999]
- (190) 7. Henry Coleman, b. c1780

Daughters:

- (191) 8. Lucretia Coleman, b. 1783, d. 1840, married William Hemphill
[Roper, 1999]
- (192) 9. Charity Coleman, married Elijah Worley
[Roper, 1999]
- (193) 10. Polly Coleman
Roper adds a daughter Mary, leaving out Polly, suggesting she went by both names at different times in her life:

Daughters married surnames include Stephens, Faulk, Hemphill, and possibly Norton, Meares, Worley, and Cahoon. [Roper, 1998]

Powel, 1971 records the family of Moses Coleman of Fair Bluff, North Carolina, as one of the early families settling in the area. He states
Moses Coleman came from Edgecombe County. He states:

(182) Moses and Luraine Coleman had these children:

- (184) 1. John Coleman,
- (185) 2. Theophilus Coleman, an Infantry private in Rev. War
- (186) 3. Amos Coleman,
- (187) 4. Phillip Coleman,
- (188) 5. Moses Coleman, Jr.,
- (189) 6. Dempsey Coleman,
- (190) 7. Henry Coleman,
- (191) 8. Lucretia Coleman,
- (193) 9. Polly Coleman,
- (192) 10. Charity Coleman, b. 1797

Chapter 14 Colemans of Fair Bluff, North Carolina covers these lines further as they moved from Robeson
County North Carolina to Fair Bluff, Cerro Gordo, Cherry Grove and Porter Swamp areas of Columbus
County North Carolina.

Chapter 7. Theophilus Coleman

(8) Theophilus Coleman, son of Robert Coleman, II. - (line of Mike Coleman, of Austin, TX.) In the mid 1750s, R. Israel (or Israel R.) Florida sold land to Theophilus Coleman by deed recorded on page 488 of the Johnston/Dobbs/Lenoir Counties Grantor Index - Book 4 - 1756 - 1757. per a post by Martha Mewborn Marble, 1377 Independence Ave, S.E., Washington, D. C. 20003 to the USGenWeb archives.

Chapter 8: Samuel Coleman of Edgecombe County North Carolina and Craven County South Carolina

(9) Samuel Coleman was estimated to have been born c1702 based on his father's birth year.

Samuel and Sampson were listed as planters of Craven County, SC when they sold the land they inherited from their father in Edgecombe County, NC.

Samuel Coleman and Sampson Coleman planters of Craven Co SC to Stephen Cobb of Dobbs Co 40 pounds proclamation, 200 acres which was a patent to William Coleman 20 Apr 1745, on the north side of Great Contenteney Creek. Wit: Cornelius Jordan, John Foulk, Micajah Cohoon. Feb Court 1769, James Hall, Clerk of the Court.

[Bradley, 1995, p. 6 records this from Deed Book C, page 176.] This suggests Samuel and Sampson Coleman were sons of William Coleman, as was recorded in Chapter 3 for \(3\) William Coleman.

Chapter 9: Sampson Coleman of Edgecombe County North Carolina and Craven and Georgetown Counties South Carolina

(10) Sampson Coleman was estimated to have been born c1704 based on his father's birth year.

Samuel and Sampson were listed as planters of Craven County, SC when they sold the land they inherited from their father in Edgecombe County, NC.

Samuel Coleman and Sampson Coleman planters of Craven Co SC to Stephen Cobb of Dobbs Co 40 pounds proclamation, 200 acres which was a patent to William Coleman 20 Apr 1745, on the north side of Great Contenteney Creek. Wit: Cornelius Jordan, John Foulk, Micajah Cohoon. Feb Court 1769, James Hall, Clerk of the Court.

[Bradley, 1995, p. 6 records this from Deed Book C, page 176.] This suggests Samuel and Sampson Coleman were sons of William Coleman, as was recorded in Chapter 3 for \(3\) William Coleman.

The portion of Craven County, SC that became a part of Georgetown District, SC is where they are listed in the 1790 U.S. Census, along with a Robert Coleman, possibly their cousin, (5) Robert Coleman.

From the 1790 U.S. Census for the "Georgetown District, Prince George Parish", we see:

Coleman, Sampson, 2 males older than 18 years,
2 males less than 18 years,
3 free white females, and no slaves.

Thus one could speculate that Sampson had 3 sons and 2 daughters living with him in addition to a wife at this time, though it can not be determined from the Census.

Chapter 12: Ellen Coleman and Cornelius Jordan of Edgecombe County North Carolina

The Colemans from Nansemond County Colonial Virginia were reported in J.P. Coleman's book [\[Coleman, 1965\]](#) to have come to Edgecombe County NC with the Jordan's.

(13) Ellen Coleman, also born c1710, was the daughter of (3) William (Wiley) and Jane Coleman of Edgecombe County, NC, as recorded previously in Chapter 2, Second Generation. She married Cornelius Jordan, Sr. (13) Ellen Coleman and Cornelius Jordan had these children:

- (194) 1. Cornelius Jordan, Jr. b. c1730+-10

Dr. Henry Allen Coleman and Harriett Matilda Coleman also had a son, who died as a child.

Essie Coleman (Mrs. Henry Lee Coleman), daughter of Henry Allen Coleman and Harriett Matilda Coleman, writes:

"My mother's father bought the John Roseborough place in Ridgeway, bringing his bride, Acsaneth Davis, to it. He built the brick house with the labor of his slaves, about the time the railroad was put through Ridgeway, giving a right-of-way between him and Colonel Davis, who owned the opposite hill. Bricks were made near the spring, and my mother said it was a beautiful sight at night when they were fired."

[Coleman, J. P., 1965]

A sketch of Dr. James Buchanan's brick home is recorded in A Fairfield County Sketch Book by Bolick, published in 1963. In it, Bolick writes of a large family the Dr. raised in that home. She writes that the railway proximity made the brick Coleman house a point of access between local folk and the railroad such that the hospitality of the Colemans created a business focal point which grew into the town of Ridgeway. Bolick writes that the Ridgeway Garden Club maintains the Coleman House to this day as an historic land mark. [Bolick, 1963]

Dempsey left a will in Columbus County NC May 1823 Will Book A p48 [Roper, 1999]
[Roper, 1999]

Powel, 1971 records the family of Moses Coleman of Fair Bluff, North Carolina, as one of the early families settling in the area. He states Moses Coleman came from Edgecombe County. He states:
(182) Moses and Luraine Coleman had these children:

(184) 1. John Coleman
(185) 2. Theophilus Coleman, a Infantry private in Rev. War
(186) 3. Amos Coleman b. 1771 [1850 Columbus County Census]

(190) 7. Henry Coleman
(191) 8. Lucretia Coleman
(193) 9. Polly Coleman
(192) 10. Charity Coleman, b. 1797

(185) Theophilus Coleman (Moses II, Moses I, Robert II, Robert I) married Kisiah Unknown. From his pension application we appeared 02/10/1834, a resident of Columbus County, North Carolina, at the age of 72 years, the 2nd day of May 1833. He entered the service as a private for six months in the Bladen Militia, then a resident of Bladen County, NC. He was under Capt. Daniel Shipman in the fall of 1777. His father objected because he was only 16 years old, and thus not able to perform militia duty. The company rendezvoused at Elizabethtown with several other militia companies, under command of Colonel Wade, and marched under command of Gen. Ashe. He recalled Capt. Leggets and Elliots companies. They crossed the Pee Dee River at Port's Ferry and to the lower part of South Carolina to Brier Creek in Georgia, crossing the Savannah River at Augusta.

While camped between the creek and the river, the Americans were surprised and defeated in the early part of the day. He said General Ashe was advised of enemy in the immediate vicinity but took no precaution against attack. They were only able to get off one volley of fire before having to swim the river. They formed up and marched homeward, crossing the Pee Dee again at Port's Ferry. They went through Fayetteville and Cross Creek where they joined up with back country militia under command of Gen. Rutherford. He was stationed there to the end of his term of service. He received a discharge from Gen. Ashe but it had been lost or destroyed. This was common. There were more assignments and terms of service, and Theophilus volunteered to join the Bladen Light Horse Militia.

Theo then stated his birth date as 05/02/1871 and said he was born in Edgecombe County, NC, but came with his father to Columbus County before the revolution, and then to Bladen where he had resided ever since. Joel Stevens and Luke R. Simmons testify to knowing Theo and believing him to be a soldier in the revolution.

From the widow's pension application dated 04/01/1844 we get the following:

Kisiah Coleman appeared before the justice of the peace at age 78 years.
Theophilus Coleman was born 05/02/1871 [Page 7.jpg] in Edgecombe County, NC.

He lived in Columbus County for a time relocating there before the war.
He relocated to Bladen County where he made his home.[Pension Application,
Page 7.jpg]

In 1786, Theophilus married Kisiah Unknown. Theo died 07/09/1843;
Kisiah died 8/17/1850.

Theophilus and Kiziah Coleman had these children:

8. Rhoda Coleman
9. Anna Coleman
10. Moses Coleman
11. Mary Hammonds

James Hammond, administrator of Kisiah's estate, lived in Horry Dist., SC.
Theophilus joined military service in the Fall of 1777 at age 16.

(292) Dempsey Coleman is found in the 1860 U.S. Census of Columbus County, North Carolina:

Seven years later, (292) Dempsey Coleman is listed in the Branson Country Directory for the year 1867-1868 - Columbus County, NC. He is shown as one of five Commissioners for the county. He is listed among the Turpentine Distributors in the list of merchants. He is also listed as a prominent farmer along with another, J M McGougan owning 657 acres; D Coleman owning 1,630 acres; both in Fair Bluff. There is a business listed as Coleman (D) & Co. in Fair Bluff. There is a Coleman & Williamson business listed in Cerro Gordo, NC.

(293) Henry Coleman became known as Henry Coleman, Sr. after his brother Dempsey named a son Henry Coleman, Jr as Coleman researcher David Galloway records:

Henry Coleman, Sr. son of Asa Coleman and Anna Enzor married Mary Lizzie Wallace in Columbus County, NC in 1883. There was no issue from this marriage. In his will he mentions nephew Henry Coleman, Jr. He was the son of Dempsey Coleman and Mary Catherine Coleman. Dempsey Coleman of course was the brother of Henry Coleman, Sr.

(293) Henry Coleman, Sr is likely the same person found in the 1860 U.S. Census of Columbus County, North Carolina:

From Jernigan Reunion #2 p. 184 (229) Sarah Coleman, daughter of the (185) Theophilus Coleman above, married Charles Jernigan. Charles Jernigan may have been a son or grandson of Jesse Jernigan who moved from Wayne County NC to Robeson County NC and then on into Horry District in SC.

The children of Charles Jernigan and (229) Sarah Coleman were:

This is supported by a posting from another author giving this information from the 1860 U.S. Census for Columbus County, NC:

(377)	1. Andrew J. Jernigan	age 35

(186) Amos and Winnifred Coleman had these children:

- | | | | |
|-------|----|--|-----------------------------|
| (236) | 1. | Daniel Coleman, | b. 1800 |
| (237) | 2. | Bryant Coleman, | b. 1805 |

| (239) | 4. | Vivian Coleman, | b. c1812 [based on husband] |
| | | married Francis Floyd, | b. 1812. |

Galloway, perhaps noting the proximity to the households of these children in the 1860 U.S. Census, and other records, has suggested another child of this pair was (1144) Travis Coleman, b. 1805.

From Will Book A of Columbus County, NC [Williamson] we have the following on (186) Amos Coleman, son of (182) Moses Coleman:

(186) Amos Coleman, Sr. (Moses II, Moses I, Robert II, Robert I)
b 1771 [1850 Columbus Co Census]. left a will dated 24 Aug 1855 probated 14 Feb 1860 where:
he left his son (236) Daniel 2 slaves and his son (237) Bryant 2 slaves, though after Bryant's death, these would be divided between heirs of the other two brothers, the other son (238) Harris is mentioned. A daughter, (239) Vivian Floyd, wife of Francis Floyd is mentioned. (There is a will for Francis Floyd dated 16 Dec 1885 that lists Adeline Floyd as his wife.)
Executor of Amos Coleman, Sr's will (sons?): (236) Daniel Coleman, (238) Harris Coleman Witnesses: Amos' brother, (189) Dempsey Coleman; Henry Faulk, and Coleman Faulk.
c.s.c.: Wm Baldwin. [Williamson, p. 15]

The question is where is Amos Coleman, Jr.? How could there be a Sr. without a Jr. listed in Sr.'s will?

From Roper, 1999, we have Amos' wife's name was Winnifred. From the 1850 Columbus County Census, we see she was 12 years younger, b. 1783 based on her age recorded in 1850 as 67.

The years of birth for the men above is based on the 1860 U.S. Census of Columbus County, North Carolina, the data for which appears later.

(236) Daniel Coleman married Sallie Nickols [Nichols, in Columbus County North Carolina?]. Sallie Nickols Coleman was the daughter of Elias Nichols and Sallie Lewis Nichols. Daniel and Sallie Nickols Coleman had Sallie Coleman, b. 1834. [Walters, 2002]

The 1850 U.S. Census records the family of (236) Daniel Coleman:

(243) Bethel V. Coleman was elsewhere recorded as Burwell Vick Coleman, b. 9/11/1827 in Columbus County, NC. (243) Burwell Vick Coleman married Elizabeth Ann Rozier 1/07/1855 in Robeson County, NC. He died 10/3/1892 in Columbus County, NC.

Another source gives the marriage of Burwell Vick Coleman on 1/07/1855 in Robeson County stating he married Elizabeth Ann McKolsky. Though the spelling is slightly off, this record is supported by the names of Elizabeth's children born prior to the date of this marriage as recorded in the 1860 U.S. Census with the last name of McKlosky, namely son James McKlosky and daughter S. A. McKlosky. Elizabeth Rozier had first married a Mr. KcKlosky, as will be documented below, thus explaining why her marriage could be recorded by two sources giving her two different last names, maiden & first husband's.

(243) Burwell Vick Coleman and wife Elizabeth Ann McKlosky had these children:

Hand drawn map of Fair Bluff, Cerro Gordo, and Cherry Grove in Columbus County North Carolina

The locations of interest in the Moses Coleman line and collateral lines of the Nichols, Floyds, and Jernigans are shown in Columbus County, NC and in Horry County, SC in the map above. Note the Nichols-Coleman offspring formed the town of Nichols in Marion County, SC. Floyds Crossroads and Jernigan Crossroads are shown in Horry County, SC. Both families had men who married Coleman women from Columbus County, NC. Others in the line settled between Fair Bluff and Cherry Grove, near Cerro Gordo, and near Porter Swamp. For more details on the locations, see Fair Bluff Deeds Timeline.

Horry County is on the Atlantic sea coast of South Carolina and borders Columbus County North Carolina. We shall see more Coleman descendants, below, in the area of Floyds Township in Horry County, SC (See Averette Floyd's family below).

(239) Vivian Coleman was the first wife of Francis Floyd, who was born in 1812. Francis was related to the Floyds of Robeson County (NW of Fair Bluff). Francis settled in present Hinson's Cross Roads (East of Fair Bluff). [Powell, 1971]

(277) Louise Coleman married Averette Floyd. Averette was son of James Floyd and Edith Nichols. He was born April 29, 1822 in Horry Co. S.C., and died May 05, 1865 in Maryland during Civil War. It is said that Louise Coleman moved back to Columbus Co. after Averette's death.

Alfred was in Company E., 36th Regiment, Columbus Co. N.C from 1863 to 1865. Alfred worked in a sawmill.

In a query to the Horry County, SC page of the USGenWeb project, Biba writes that Mary was born in 1850, rather than 1848, and that she was from Floyds Township in Horry County, SC. Thus, Averette Floyd and Louise Coleman apparently raised their family in Floyds Township, Horry County, SC. [Biba, 1999]

(282) Ross Floyd is also known as Christopher Columbus Ross Floyd. The same source gives his mother's name as Aura Louisa Coleman. He married Ida Jane Coleman. Ida Jane Coleman was born 9 May 1860 and died 6 Jan 1939. They had:

Traveling East from Fair Bluff, one comes to Cerro Gordo first, then to Bird Cage; so I surmise this tract was somewhere East of Fair Bluff. He also leaves a tract of land on the North side of the W C & A Railroad.

(190) Henry Coleman

married Mary L. Unknown.

Again, from Will Book A of Columbus County, NC [Williamson] we have the following on (190) Henry Coleman:

Henry Coleman, Sr., son of Moses II, who was son of Moses I, who was son of Robert II.

Henry lived in Fair Bluff, NC and left a will dated 20 Oct 1905, a codicil dated 19 Nov 1910, deceased on or about 3 Nov 1911, and the will probated 8 Nov 1911. His wife, Mary L. Coleman dissents the will claiming her legal rights to the land while she is alive. He lists no relationship but names the following as recipients of his estate:

- (346) 1. Henry Coleman, Jr., a nephew
- (347) 2. Henry Gordon Floyd, son of Dr. A. G. Floyd
- (348) 3. Tifney Barnes, who married Dempsey Barnes
- (349) 4. Mary V. McDermitt,
- (350) 5. Sally Page,
- (351) 6. Susan C. Ayers, who married J. A. Ayers

Executor: Henry Coleman, Jr. and Dr. A. G. Floyd

Witnesses: B.A. Anderson and A. G. Floyd

Codicil gives money for an iron fence around the cemetery of Henry Coleman, Jr. [Williamson, p. 46]

(228) Asa Coleman and Anna Jane Enzor Coleman had:

- (292) 1. Dempsey Coleman, b. 1823
- (293) 2. Henry Coleman, b. 1827-1830, gave the lot where Fair Bluff Baptist Church stood in 1971. (may still be there)
- (294) 3. Carolina Matilda Coleman
- (295) 4. Sallie Malinda Coleman

There is a cemetery record for (293) Henry Coleman who is the son of

(228) Asa Coleman. From the cemetery records of the Coleman Cemetery in Cherry Grove, NC we know he and his wife were buried next to his brother Dempsey and Dempsey's wife and their parents, Asa and Annie Coleman.

(293) Henry Coleman, b. c1827, d. 11/3/1911, Aged 84 Years, they had several children.

(191) Lucretia Coleman and husband William Hemphill had these children:

[Tom, Zoe Hemphill, 1994]

Zoe Tom also records

William A. Coleman born 9-29-1779 in Mecklenburg, N.C. Died Jan. 9, 1837, in Bastrop, Texas.
He married Lucretia H. Coleman, who was born in 1783 and died 1840.

Tammy Owen records

The family ended up in Bastrop County, TX and were some of the first settlers in the area intermarrying with other first settlers. The area they lived at is called Hemphill Bend off of County Road 969 about 5 miles north of Hwy 71. A lot of the Hemphills are buried at Fairview Cemetery in Bastrop or in the Hemphill Cemetery on the old Hemphill place. There are also some at the Bateman Cemetery.

[Owen, Tammy, Oct 1, 1998]

Powell, 1971, records

(192) Charity Coleman was born in 1797. She married Elijah Worley, who was born 06/23/1788, to Nicholas Worley and Patience Strong (see below).

Elijah and (192) Charity Coleman Worley lived on the road from Fair Bluff to Cherry Grove, then called the Fair Bluff and Pireway Road.

Elijah owned much land.

(192) Charity Coleman and husband Elijah Worley had:

 - (364) 13. Mary Ann Worley
- [Powell, 1971]

The family that (192) Charity Coleman (above) married into was that of

Nicholas Worley and his wife Patience Strong. Thanks to Betty Morgan

for pointing out her last name and father and that Patience may have been the widow of McKennie at the time she wed Nicholas Worley.

That Patience was the daughter of Return Strong is hardly in doubt as you see his name sake among Elijah and Charity's children listed above.

From another source archived as a post to the NCBLADEN-L, the family of Elijah Worley was recorded Wed, 15 Mar 2000, with a subject of "Return Strong":

Patience Strong
Nicholas Worley, Jr was born about 1755 in Duplin County, NC and died after 1832 in Columbus Co., NC. He wed Patience Strong and they had:
1. Elias Worley b: c1786 in Columbus Co., NC
Elias wed Susannah Jernigan b: 1792 in North Carolina
m: c1808 d: 1867
2. Jane Worley b: c1790 in Columbus Co., NC

[<http://archiver.rootsweb.com/th/read/NCBLADEN/2000-03/0953123673>]

Nicholas and Patience settled between Fair Bluff and Cherry Grove (SE of Fair Bluff) before 1800. Their ancestors lived in northeastern North Carolina.

(354) Coleman Worley married Emaline Enzor.

She is buried in the Hammond Cemetery near the state line in Horry County, SC. Her grave gives the following dates:

born 23 Jan 1836; died 28 Mar 1905.

(193) Mary Polly Coleman married Joab Meares.

[Blackwell, Michael 2009],

[Meares, Billy 2000],

[Jones, Hamilton C 1858]

She lived 1784 to 1863 per Cook, 2004.

There is a court record online (Jones, Hamilton C 1858) documenting the fact that the wife of Joab Coleman had a brother, Philip Coleman.

(193) Mary Polly Coleman and husband Joab Meares had these children:

(1388) 1. Rhoda Meares ,	b. 01/11/1806; d. 01/01/1872, Fair Bluff, Columbus
County, NC,
(1389) 2. Alfred Meares ,	b. 12/29/1808, Bladen County, NC; d. 12/12/1872, (1393) 6. Mary Meares ,	b. 02/03/1816; d. 01/23/1860.

This family is recorded in great detail online in a Family Tree Maker Descendants

Report for Thomas Meares, b. 1602/03

in Sidlesham, Sussex County, England, who emigrated in 1620 from Burras Ireland to Upper Norfolk County, VA, and died in 1674 in Anne Arundel County, Maryland.

The dates of birth and death above were taken from this source, except for Elizabeth, where a second source indicated 1813.

From the 1820 Columbus Co, NC Census we have these records:

Pg	Head of House	<10	<16	<18	<26	<45	>45	<10	<18	<26	<45	>45
4	F. Coleman	2,	1,	1,	0,	0,	3,	4,	3,	1,	0,	0,0,2,1,1
4	A? Coleman	1,	1,	0,	0,	0,	0,	0,	1,	0,	0,	0,0,2,1

From the 1820 Columbus Co, NC Census we have these records, [Index number added to show where these heads of households fit in the family documented in this book]:

Index	Pg	Head of House	<10	<16	<18	<26	<45	>45	<10	<18	<26	<45	>45
	51	Andrew Coleman	1,	0,	0,	0,	1,	0,	1,	0,	0,	1,	0
		Andrew is between 26 and 45, born between 1775 and 1794.
(185)	52	Theophilus Coleman	1,	0,	0,	1,	0,	1,	1,	1,	4,	1,	1
		Theophilus was born 1761 and was age 59 years or so in 1820, so he is the one over 45 and has a large number, 11 people total, in his household.
(184)	52	John Coleman	0,	0,	0,	1,	0,	1,	0,	0,	0,	0,	1
		John was born about 1760, was about 60 years old, and has only 3 people in his house hold, maybe a wife and a son between 18 and 26 years of age.
(190)	53	Henry Coleman	0,	0,	0,	0,	1,	0,	0,	0,	1,	0,	0
		I imagine Henry was born about 1780 and was about 40, thus he's listed less than 45 and is in a house with only one female, probably his wife, of the same age bracket.
(189)	53	Dempsey Coleman	0,	0,	0,	1,	1,	0,	3,	2,	0,	1,	0
		born about 1778, Dempsey would have been about 42 in 1820, so listed less than 45. With two males and 6 females in the house, he had one of the larger households in 1820.
(186)	53	Amos Coleman	1,	0,	1,	2,	0,	1,	1,	0,	0,	1,	0

Another clue to the identity of the above family is a marriage record found among the marriages records of Robeson County, NC.

Recall that Robeson County lies adjacent to Columbus County, not far from Fair Bluff, just to the Northeast of Fair Bluff.

There is found the marriage of William H. Coleman to Sarah Rozier on 07/14/1842. This is a perfect fit for the birth years of the children in the above family.

There are two other Coleman marriages listed in Robeson County, NC.

Coleman, Burwell V. and Elizabeth McKolskey (sic) on 01/07/1855.
Coleman, Nicholas and Mary Lamb on 02/24/1822.

LOOSE ENDS

Colemans in the area of Robeson County,
NC, Columbus County, NC, and

Horry District, SC.

From personal correspondence, I have been given this information about a (372) Theophilus Coleman, who I believe is connected to our Nansemond Colemans:

(372) Theophilus Coleman, born 1779-81, in Nash Co. NC died 1814, in Surry, NC.
married to Abigail Robertson, born 5 July 1783, in Sangamon Co. Kentucky died 1865

Abigail's parents were John and Patsy Robertson. (no dates)
Abigail married Robert Hamilton after her marriage to Theophilus.

(372) Theophilus Coleman and Abigail Coleman had these children:

(373) 1.	Sarah Coleman	married	Joshua Crowe
(374) 2.	Elizabeth Coleman	married	John Purvines or Purviance

(375) 3. John Roundtree Coleman
(376) 4. Jane Coleman
[Tubbs]

(376) Jane Coleman

married first George Hamilton.

She married second Alexander Purviance.

[Tubbs]

This is fascinating when considered alongside the information about Charles Coleman (1744-1824) and his wife Mary Roundtree. They had several children starting just after the birth of Theophilus Coleman above. They had a daughter named Sarah and a son John. If, in addition to their known children, they first had a son Theophilus, it would explain the use of the name Roundtree in John Roundtree Coleman's name.

The 1860 U.S. Census of

Columbus County, North Carolina records these Coleman households that I have not yet tied in to our lines:

Incidentally, though the connection is unknown, Powel, 1971

records a Coleman Nicholas from Edgecombe County settled on Porter Swamp before 1800. Therefore, there was a connection between the two families further back.

Children of Coleman Nicholas were:

1. Elias Nicholas, b. 1770, d. 1852, m. Sarah Lewis of South Carolina
Elias had a daughter who married into the Coleman family and moved to
2. Ephrian Nicholas, m. Rebecca Williamson. They moved to Marion County, Mississippi in 1834.
3. Edith Nicholas m. Simon Godwin.
4. Averlite Nicholas. His family settled in South Carolina founding the

Chapter 15. Colemans of Hamilton County, Tennessee

Colemans in the area of Walden's Ridge situated at the point where southern Bledsoe, eastern Sequatchie, and northern Hamilton County Tennessee come together were well researched and documented in a rare typed manuscript entitled

The Colemans of North Hamilton County, Tennessee, originally authored by Cy Yarborough, and privately published circa 1985 to 1988, updated since 1999 by Wes Coleman.

It has been my intent to make this information permanently available on the web, and it is with his permission that it appears here. [Yarborough, Cy, c1985]

CHARLES COLEMAN, FIRST ANCESTOR TO NORTH HAMILTON COUNTY, TENNESSEE AREA

By permission, the text below is excerpts from a book,
The Colemans of North Hamilton County Tennessee by Cy Yarborough.

Editor's notes are my additions based on reports people have given me or I have researched - Wes Coleman

(213) Charles S. Coleman,

according to all records available, was born in South

Carolina. The date of his birth is disputable. In the Bledsoe County

Tennessee census of 1830 "Charles Colman" was listed as being between 50 and 60 years of age indicating he was born between 1770 and 1780. This hardly seems likely since his wife is also listed as being between 50 and 60 but they had seven children between the ages of 0 to 20. In the 1840

Bledsoe County census Charles Coleman and his wife were listed as being between 40 and 50 years of age. This coincides with the 1850 census which listed Charles Coleman as 57 years old which would put his birth year around 1793.

I do not know when or how Charles Coleman came to Tennessee. An old family legend which I've heard all my life and that has been conveyed to me by other Coleman descendants is that the Coleman's came to this area by floating down the Tennessee River on a flat bottomed boat or raft. This I must emphasize is only legend and it has not been confirmed. It is a fact that in 1818, Charles Coleman was living in Madison County, Alabama, as it has been proven that one of his children was born there in 1818.

The first record of Charles Coleman actually being in the North Hamilton County area is the 1830 Bledsoe County census. There is some reason to believe he had lived in the state of Tennessee prior to this since various census records indicate his two oldest sons were both born in Tennessee.

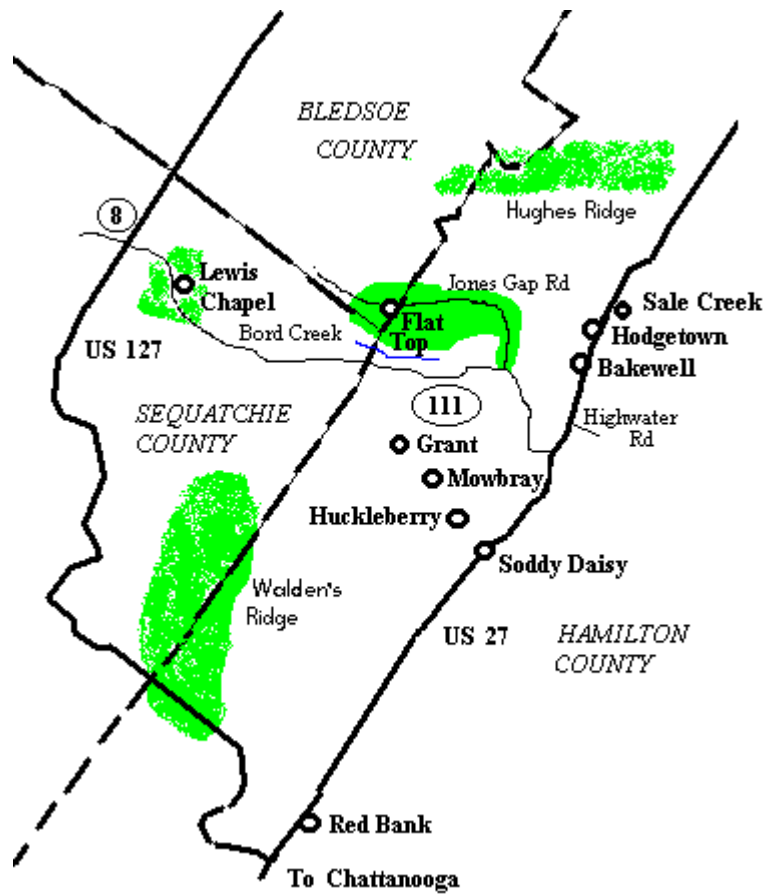

An affidavit attesting to the service of James Varner, pioneer resident of Soddy, TN, in the war of 1812 was discovered as being signed by Charles Coleman as a witness. Varner is known to have lived in the area around 1812 and he and Coleman obviously served together in the same outfit in the War of 1812. So it is a possibility, if this is our Charles Coleman, he knew Varner since at least 1812-1814, and may have lived near Varner.

Even though he is shown as being in Bledsoe County in 1830 and 1840, this would be in an area that would now be in eastern Sequatchie County as Sequatchie County wasn't formed until 1857 from parts of southern Bledsoe, northern Clarion and western Hamilton Counties. I believe he may have lived in the area where Lewis Chapel and Flat Top Mountain communities are now located.

Map of the Lewis Chapel, Flat Top, and Soddy-Daisy area of Tennessee, drawn by the author

The first record of a land transaction that has been found involving

Charles Coleman was in the Hamilton County Entry Taker's book. The entry is recorded as follows:

"Charles Coleman entered 640 acres on 9/20/1831, land on Walden's Ridge beginning on James Bunch's south corner of the place where he now lives, running North and East with said Bunch's line to Cany Branch, thence down Cany Branch and round."

The next land transaction found was also in the Hamilton Country Entry

Taker's book:

"On 1/23/1841, Charles Coleman and William Bunch entered 5,000 acres in Hamilton County on Walden's Ridge. Beginning on Southeast top of ridge near Poe's turnpike road on Northeast side thence North to 640 acres of Coleman's along his line to Northwest corner thence to Northwest top of ridge then North to extreme top and headwaters of Sale Creek, then down Sale Crock to Southwest top of ridge, then along Southwest top to include 5,000 acres of unappropriated land."

For reasons I have so far been unable to uncover, three months after

Charles Coleman and Bunch first entered the 5,000 acres, Coleman then re-entered the land on 4/26/1841, in his own name only apparently taking sole possession of the property. The property Coleman entered in 1831 was next to a James Bunch's property and the property entered in 1841 was with a William Bunch. I believe this to be the same man or to be two men who were related and undoubtedly a neighbor of Charles Coleman's.

In the 1850 census Charles Coleman is found living in Hamilton County while his three sons were still living in Bledsoe County. This should most likely indicate a change in residence since Sequatchie County had not yet been formed from Bledsoe, Marion and Hamilton Counties. Even though the 5,640 acres of land entered by Coleman were entered in Hamilton County, it is likely that some of the land overlapped into what was then Bledsoe County. In 1849, Charles Coleman traded 320 acres on Walden's Ridge to Col. William Clift for 200 acres on Opposum Creek in the valley between Soddy and Bakewell. This land is supposedly the land Charles Coleman moved onto when he was shown living in Hamilton County in the 1850 census after living in Bledsoe County in the 1830 and 1840 census. It was 50 Acres of this tract that Jackson Coleman received from his father in 1852 (which he later deeded back to his father in 1855). 50 acres that Benjamin Franklin Coleman received from his father in 1859 was reportedly from this same tract of 200 acres. This entire tract was later owned by Charles Coleman's grandson, Lewis Washington (Lute) Coleman and was known as the Lewis Coleman farm until his departure to Texas.

The 1850 Hamilton County census was the last census in which Charles Coleman was found in this area. [Editor WDC: Charles appears in the Census Death Rolls for Hamilton Co. Tennessee showing his death occurred in January 1860.]

Charles Coleman no doubt did some farming throughout his life but census records in 1830 and 1840 list occupation as being in manufacturing and trade. In 1850 his occupation was listed as being a carpenter. I would suspect that being a carpenter could be construed as being in manufacturing and trade.

According to census records available, Charles Coleman had 7 children, 3 sons and 4 daughters. In the 1850 Hamilton County census, which is the only census he appears in where other family members are listed by name, his wife is named Elizabeth Unknown, however the census also indicated she and Charles were married within the year so she is not the mother of his children. The identity of his first wife is not known. The identity of all his 7 children aren't known either but a list as complete as presently possible along with approximate dates of their birth is as shown below.

Editor's Note:

As stated above, Charles S. Coleman was the first Coleman ancestor in the Walden's Ridge area situated at the juncture of Bledsoe, Sequatchie, and Hamilton Counties of Tennessee. His descendants are outlined below for those born up to 1930. For web posting, the names of those born after 1930 were removed for the privacy of those who may still be living.

Chapter 16. Descendants of Charles Washington Coleman of Hamilton, and later, Putnam County Tennessee

By permission, the text below is excerpts from a book,
The Colemans of North Hamilton County Tennessee by Cy Yarborough.

Editor's notes are my additions based on reports people have given me or I have researched - Wes Coleman

(383) Charles Washington Coleman, known as Wash, was born approximately 1815 in Tennessee according to all records available. He was a life-long farmer and began his livelihood in the old section of Bledsoe County, Tennessee which presently lies in Sequatchie County area somewhere between the Lewis Chapel and Flat Top communities.

Hand-drawn map of the Flat Top area of Walden's Ridge

Wash's father sold him 200 acres of land for $200 on 7 Sep 1842. The land bordered Bord Creek on Walden's Ridge in Bledsoe County (later Sequatchie Co.). The land was part of an original grant to Benjamin Wheeler, Joseph Hoge and Daniel Hoge. He added 700 acres to the 200 acres he bought from his father when in 1850 he purchased the land from Thomas Mansfield for $200 giving him a total of 900 acres.

Wash then sold 100 acres off the 700 acre parcel for $150 to Goodwin

Casewell on 19 Aug 1851. Not a bad price since he gave only $200 for the entire 700 acres just a year before.

On 1/10/1855 he then bought an additional 100 acres for $100 from

S.J.A. Burg.

This land bordered the N. W. corner of the land Wash already owned.

Wash put up 107 acres as collateral for a debt of $111.10 he owed Stewart

Rogers on 25 Jul 1858. The terms were that Wash sign a deed of trust to Samuel

Brown who was to hold the deed to the land for 60 days in which Wash must pay the debt or the land would be put up for public auction. It's assumed that Wash was able to pay off the debt since no record was found of the land being deeded to anyone else from Coleman or Brown.

In 1861, Wash started selling off some of his land. On 30 Jan 1861 he sold 200 acres to J. H. & I. J. Rogers for $200. Just a few days later on 4 Feb 1861 he sold another 100 acres to the Rogers' again for $55. Wash may have been preparing to leave Walden's Ridge by selling the land, for the next time the federal census was taken in 1870 he was living in Putnam County, Tennessee.

It is not known exactly when Wash moved from Walden's Ridge to Putnam County, but it could very well have been in early 1861 after he sold the 300 acres. When he moved to Putnam County he settled in an area called Buffalo Valley located in the extreme southwest corner of the county near the town of Baxter, Tennessee.

Wash was married in the mid-1830's to Lucinda Sims. Lucinda was born around 1819 in Kentucky. Available records indicate that both Wash and Lucinda were illiterate. Lucinda died in the mid 1850's and was buried on Flat Top Mountain. Cy had a descendent of Wash Coleman's tell him that Wash remarried after Lucinda died but the last federal census Wash appeared in with a wife living with him was the 1850 census with Lucinda. He may have remarried but if he did it was not for long.

Wash, like many Coleman's that followed him, farmed most of his life but also did some carpentry and in the 1860 census he was listed as being a wagonmaker.

In the 1880 Putnam County census, the last federal census Wash appeared in, Wash was living with his married daughter, Mary Martin. Under the column headed "Maimed, crippled or bedridden" the word "Paralysis" was written in indicating he was in failing health, possibly from a stroke or something that had paralyzed him. Wash died in the early 1880's, the exact date is not known. He is buried in Baxter, Tennessee.

(383) Charles Washington Coleman and Lucinda Sims had children described as:

- | | | | |
|----------|--|---------------|-----------------------|
| (394) 1. | Elizabeth Coleman (McClure), | b. c1837, | in Bledsoe County, TN |
| (395) 2. | Thomas Jackson Coleman , | b. 6/14/1838, | in Bledsoe County, TN |
| (396) 3. | Barbara Coleman (Harvey), | b. 2/01/1842, | in Bledsoe County, TN |
| (397) 4. | Mary E. Coleman (Tucker), | b. c1844, | in Bledsoe County, TN |
| (398) 5. | Zachary Taylor Coleman , | b. 11/?/1847, | in Bledsoe County, TN |
| (399) 6. | Eliza Coleman , | b. c1849, | in Bledsoe County, TN |
| (400) 7. | Benjamin Franklin Coleman , | b. c1850, | in Bledsoe County, TN |
| (401) 8. | Susan Coleman (Starnes), | b. c1852, | in Bledsoe County, TN |
| (402) 9. | Mary Coleman (Martin), | b. 6/?/1856, | in TN |

It was disturbing to note two of the daughters, Eliza and Mary, seem to appear twice and each duplicated name includes one or both years of birth as approximate years. The conclusion is that there may be an error in the above information. These two, Elizabeth and Mary appeared in the 1860 U.S. Census below.

The 1860 Census listed the family this way with apparent year of birth calculated:

(383)	Coleman, Washington	age 45,	b. 1814-15
(396)	Coleman, Barbary	age 18,	b. 1841-42
(397)	Coleman, Mary E.	age 16,	b. 1843-44
(398)	Coleman, Zachareah	age 14,	b. 1845-46
(399)	Coleman, Eliza	age 12,	b. 1847-48
(400)	Coleman, Franklin	age 10,	b. 1849-50
(401)	Coleman, Susan	age 8,	b. 1851-52

Elizabeth and her husband died in the mid 1860s in an accident that apparently claimed the lives of their twin daughters as well. The rest of their children went to live with their grandparents, Wash and Lucinda. Therefore, Wash and Lucinda were raising children in addition to those listed above.
